ANTON CERMAK TAKES OATH AS CHICAGO MAYOR

Slips Away from Followers for Brief Ceremony in Court Room

NAMES NEW OFFICIALS Promises to "Lose No Time in Cleaning Out City Hall Bums"

Chicago—(AP)—Anton Joseph Cermak took the oath of office as Chicago's mayor shortly before noon today.

The Democratic leader who de-feted Mayor William Hale Thompson Tuesday by 194,257 votes assumed his new position less than 48 hours after the polls closed. Every possible shortcut had been taken so that Cermak could start his promised reorganization of the municipal government.

The votes were canvassed in record time, a special meeting of the city council was called to approve Cermak's board, the new city clerk was sworn in, and then Cermak took oath.

Several thousand followers, gathered about Cermak's county board office, were thwarted in their efforts to see Cermak become mayor of America's second largest city.

Evades Followers
Cermak slipped into the county building, hurried to the county court room and was sworn in at 11:23 by County Judge Edmund K.
Jarecki.

Newspapermen and photographers had been previously notified and nearly filled the small court chamber.

Immediately after signing the oath, the mayor announced the appointment of A. M. Smetanka, defeated candidate for judge of the municipal court, as city prosecutor.
Previously, Col. A. A. Sprague, civil leader and advisor in Cermak's campaign, was named commissioner of public works, and Francis X.
Busch, corporation counsel. All were subject to the bond approval of the city's specially-called meeting.

The mayor's nomination as president of the Cooks board was made public at noon. Simultaneously, Sprague and Busch issued orders to discharge several thousand temporary city hall department employees.
They characterized their move as the "first step toward economy."

The throngs in the county building, finally aware of the oath-taking, swarmed through the fifth floor corridors to escort Cermak to the mayor's office in the county building.

Cheered at Office
As he passed through the doorway, onto the mat labelled, "mayor's office," a vociferous demonstration echoed through the halls that for three terms were trod by "Big Bill."

Accompanied by a hundred business men, Thompson left today for Peru, Ill., to embark down the Illinois river on the first leg of his tour boosting the Great Lakes-to-the-gulf waterway. The party will traverse the waters of the Mississippi,
Ohio and Tennessee rivers.

Thousands of telegrams and congratulatory letters still poured into Cermak's office. One read:

"Congratulations on your election.
(Signed) The National Council of Czechoslovakia."

Cermak was born in the Bohemian hills, near Prague—Czech capital.

Cermak declared he had promised to "clean out the city hall" and that he proposed to "lose no time in doing it."

"The bums who hang around the city hall are going to be swept right out," Ceramak told interviewers yesterday. Almost simultaneously he told London newspaper men "a trans-Atlantic telephone conversation that his advice to Alphonse Capone was for him to stay out of Chicago for the next four years."

Arrest Suspect As Vivian Gordon Slayer

NEW YORK COPS HOLD 4 OTHERS AS WITNESSES

Police Believe Robbery, Not Fear of Testimony,
Was Motive

New York—(AP)—Harry Stein, who went to prison in 1921 for attempting to strangle a woman, was held today for the Feb. 26 murder of Vivian Gordon, strangler victim.

Four others were arrested as witnesses. Police said the motive of the murder had been robbery and not, as first suspected, to prevent her testifying as a vice inquiry witness.

Police produced three persons who identified Stein as the man who on the day the Gordon murder was in possession of articles similar to those stolen from Vivian Gordon—a mink coat, a wrist watch, and a chain.

Records revealed Stein was convicted ten years ago and sentenced to ten years imprisonment for robbing Mary Glickman at her Bronx apartment after he had bound, gagged and attempted to strangle her.

The arrests of the five men were made simultaneously last night in various parts of the city. Besides Stein, those arrested were:

Samuel Greenhauer, alias Greenberg, Greenhauer and "Greenie", 44 years old; occupation tailor.

Morris (Doc) Levine, 35, occupation, electrician.

David Buttermann, 34, occupation, joiner.

Jack Holdcroft, 29, former Canadian trooper.

Skeleton keys and a pistol were found in Holdcroft's room.

Stein, Levine and Greenhauer are three of the men mentioned in Vivian Gordon's diary—the "diary in which she set down her affairs of love and blackmail and fear."

The three—Stein, Levine and Greenhauer—denied knowing the Gordon woman. They could not explain their names in her diary.

Other Cases Unsolved
The Vivian Gordon murder case is the most recent of the series involving women who had figured in the misty Broadway night life. It, as police say, the murder has been solved by the five arrests announced today.
It will be the first solution of the unsolved "Broadway butterfly" cases.

The immediate thought upon the discovery of Vivian Gordon's body was that her murder had been done to silence her threatened testimony in the police vice squad investigation. She had written Isidor J. Kresel the prosecutor of the probe, shortly before her death, offering to testify.

This theory never gained great credence among investigators. Some believed her death was the result of personal vengeance, and others suggested her alleged blackmailing activities may have brought about an accident.

Private detectives were called into the case—an unusual procedure.
The arrest of the five men last night,
however, was made by police officers.
Just who obtained the evidence on which the arrests were made, whether it was gotten by private detectives or members of the police department was not revealed.

Students Compete For Oratory Honors Friday Night At High School

The four orators whose subjects depict most clearly and forcefully the principles of the United States constitution in its application to history of modern life will divide $100 in cash prizes at the Appleton Post-Crescent Oratorical contest tomorrow night in the high school auditorium. The first place winner will be sent by this newspaper to the state contest in Madison on May 24.

The district winner will receive $50 for first place, second place will win $25, third place $15, and fourth place $10.

The public is invited to the contest, which will begin at 8 o'clock.
Students representing five high schools in Outagamie county will discuss the American constitution in six minute speeches. They are original orations which have taken hours of study and preparation, in order to present the subject in an interpretation historically correct. The speeches will be judged from their content, accuracy of facts and the manner of delivery. The speaking order of the contestants will be determined by drawing numbers tomorrow night.

The schools entered in the district contest include high schools of Appleton, Menasha, Waupaca, Shiocton, Weyauwega. Two students are entered from Menasha, Wau-paca, Shiocton schools, four are from Appleton high school, and one from Waupaca and Weyauwega.

Several members of the Appleton high school band will present a short musical program during the evening. Judge Fred V. Heinepahn of the county court will preside.

AGREEMENT SPEEDS UP CROSSING WORK

Northwestern President
Signs Terms for Hazards Elimination

Madison—(AP)—Momentum was given the $5,000,000 state highway grade elimination program today by Fred W. Sargent, president of the Northwestern railroad, who signed an agreement for the $600,000 share of his company.

He signed the agreement with the unemployment commission, set up in the Cashman highway bill, and with the state highway commission.
The railroads will immediately undertake the separation of 33 crossings along its tracks in the state, under the agreement. The state receives the right to undertake additional eliminations within the limit of the contribution of the Northwestern systems.

Work is to start immediately for the plans are ready and they are to be advertised for contracts.

Mr. Sargent, with H. A. Scandrett, president of the Milwaukee road,
who was unable to be here today,
were named by officials of railroads operating in Wisconsin to take up the elimination problem with the state. Because Mr. Scandrett was absent, the matter of separations with other roads was relayed, but is to be taken up "promptly," it was said.

The separation program is the administration's answer to the unemployment problem and is expected to give work to 6,000 to 10,000 men.

MOTHER OF FAMOUS FILM ACTORS DIES

Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Frances Beery, 74, mother of the famous film players, Wallace and Noah, died today from pneumonia.

Death came as Wallace raced westward in an airplane in a futile attempt to reach her bedside. He learned of his mother's critical condition when he landed at Indianapolis on a leisurely flight to Hollywood after a trip to New York.

At Mrs. Beery's bedside were two sons, Noah and William, and her husband, Noah, Sr. She had been in ill health for months, suffering from heart disease. She contracted pneumonia several days ago.

TWO YOUTHS HELD FOR PASSING BAD CHECKS

Milwaukee—(AP)—Two young men were under arrest here today on charges of passing worthless checks.
Police said they admitted obtaining about $5,000 from 50 checks cashed in cities between Milwaukee and New York.

The men gave their names as Henry Kingsfield, 25, alias Otto Bruchfeld, Freehold, N. J., and Carl Furecht, 25, alias Edward Blau, Rockaway Beach, Long Island, N. Y.

In their room at the Y. M. C. A., police found five new traveling bags filled with new clothes.

TWO KILLED, TEN HURT WHEN ROOF COLLAPSES

Berkeley, Calif.—(AP)—Two men are dead and ten others injured, six seriously as a result of the collapse of a section of the new concrete roof of the mechanic's building under construction on the University of California campus yesterday. Investigations to determine the cause of the crash got under way today.

Former Elroy Bank Chief Gets State Prison Term

Mauston—(AP)—John E. Hart, president of the defunct State Bank of Elroy, who pleaded guilty to charges involving 39 counts of falsifying a check entries and misapplication of funds, today was under sentence of from seven to twenty years in state prison.

Hart was arraigned before Circuit Judge Emory W. Crosby late yesterday on charges of embezzling $400, misappropriation of funds and falsification of bank records. Banking commissioners, who took over the affairs of the bank late December, revealed the irregularities covered a period of 20 years.

Judge Crosby sentenced Hart to the maximum term on each of 37 counts and sentenced him to serve from one to ten years on each of two additional counts, all terms, however, to run concurrently.

CLASH ON BILL TO REINSTATE RAY J. CANNON

Motion for Indefinite Postponement Fails by Vote of 47 to 33

Madison—The much disputed bill to reinstate Raymond J. Cannon, disbarred Milwaukee attorney, advanced a notch in the assembly today when a motion for indefinite postponement failed by a vote of 47 to 33.

The measure had been calendared for final passage, but Speaker Charles B. Perry, who had remained silent on the proposal until it reached the engrossment stage two weeks ago, moved indefinite postponement.

Perry and Assemblyman Stanley Slags, Edgerton, occupied the floor for nearly an hour in debating against and for the bill, respectively.

Cannon was suspended from the practice of law by the supreme court almost two years ago after being found guilty of ambulance chasing and other professional misconduct. He was defeated for circuit judge in Milwaukee at the election
Tuesday.

Speaker Perry continued his plea for preservation of government, deploring the attempt of proponents of the bill to extend the power of the legislature beyond that provided in the constitution. Slags said he represented the common people, the working man and farmer in the case. He referred to a editorial in the Janesville Gazette which described him as a Socialist and Communist, declaring "if my support of this class of people means Communism, then I plead guilty."

After a motion to postpone, the bill indefinitely was lost. Speaker Perry moved reconsideration of the vote but action on the bill was delayed until next week when the motion lost 41 to 39.

The assembly passed the Schmittfraud check bill which reduces the moisture content of processed American cheese from 39 to 38 per cent to a 1 per cent "tolerance," and provides that processed domestic Swiss cheese shall contain not less than 45 per cent milk fat in water-free substance. The present percentage is 43.

The Don Smith bill making utilitities liable for damages resulting from motor vehicles colliding with poles totally within highways of the state was finally approved.

Two substitute measures, up for en-grossment, failed to advance as amendments to the Meyer bill providing an eight hour day for employees in penal institutions, and the Hilker bill for creation of a special joint committee to further public works projects of the state, were received.

Two substitute amendments slowed up the Hitt bill for an additional income tax on net interest as it was referred to a later calendar. The business manager of the university complained with the assembly's desire for the itemized expenses of the university president. The expenses are: Direct cash payment to the president $20,400; house rental, $2, 400; house operating, $2,200; personal automobile service, $1,641.30. Total $26,641.30.

The senate spent considerable time on the so-called Kline benefits and assessments bill but final action on the measure was put over until Tuesday. The bill is pertinent only to Milwaukee and it has been submitted to displace a law which was declared unconstitutional after 40 years of operation.

THREATEN LIFE UNLESS HE RAISES CHEESE PRICE

Green Bay—(AP)—A threat against his life if he fails to raise the price of cheese to 25 cents was revealed by Horace G. Davis, president of the Davis Cheese company of Plymouth, at a meeting of cheese-makers here last night.

The letter, written with a pencil and mailed in Sheboygan April 6, was received at his home in Plymouth the next day, Davis said. It read:

"To Mr. H. G. Davis
"Watch your smoke. Raise the price of cheese to 25 cents. If not we will fill you full of holes with machine gun bullets."

Mr. Davis said he was undecided whether to treat the missive as a joke or whether to make precautions against violence. He said he would turn the case over to postal inspectors today.

BATTLE IN PROSPECT IN MEDEIRA OUTBREAK

Funchal, Madeira—(AP)—Preparations have begun for stiff resistance to the expeditionary force being sent here from Lisbon to subdue the newly installed revolutionary government.

General Sousa Dias, who heads the Junta which now controls the city, has ordered a partial mobilization of reserve forces on the island, threatening severe penalties to those who evade service.

Three Portuguese steamers in the Lisbon-Madeira-Azores service have been commandeered by the Junta for their purposes. They are the Alentejo, Guinea and Carvalho Araujo, which put in and have been submitted to a law which was declared unconstitutional after 40 years of operation.

COUPLE ARRESTED FOR INTERCEPTING MESSAGE

Chicago—(AP)—Mrs. Mildred Duckley, an employee of the Western Union company, and her husband were named in warrants obtaining by company officials today charging they intercepted a cablegram sent by Mayor-elect Anton J. Cermak during the recent campaign and turned it over to Mayor William Hale Thompson.

The cablegram read: "Martin Ryerson, Travellers bank, Paris, France: May be asked for subscriptions toward Cermak's campaign against Thompson. Cermak can be elected if we get sufficient money." (Signed) H. E. Porter."

Mrs. Duckley was named as the perpetrator of the offense and her husband, James, as an accessory. It violates the state statutes, and is punishable by a fine of from $300 to $1,000 or one year in jail.

Thompson quoted the cablegram in some of his speeches and charged Cermak was allied with "the international bankers and the interests."

SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE CALLED IN OHIO

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—A special election to fill the vacancy in the first Ohio congressional district caused by the death of Speaker Nicholas Longworth at Aiken, S. C., today must be called by the governor under the Ohio statutes.

The Ohio law requires that the governor issue a proclamation for a special election, specifying the time for the election, to the sheriffs of the counties in the district. The First district, from which Mr. Longworth served for many years, is entirely in Cincinnati.

Governor White said he would look into the law on the procedure to be followed in a congressional vacancy. The law does not specify a time limit on when the special election shall be called.

DEAD MAN ELECTED

Fond du Lac—(AP)—A dead man was elected judge of the peace in the village of Green Lake Tuesday.
Fred Page, unopposed candidate, died about an hour before the votes were counted. He suffered a stroke Sunday and was unconscious until he died.

Speaker Of House Is Dead

SPEAKER NICHOLAS LONGWORTH

Political Foes Personal Admirers Of Longworth

Washington—(AP)—Under the mourning for Speaker Longworth there was deeper grief in the capital today for the genial "Nick" who was what Representative McDuffie of Alabama, called "a natural human being."

"There are a lot of Republicans we could do without," McDuffie, the Democratic whip, wrote the speaker just a few days ago, "but you are not one of them."

The tribute went with hope for quick recovery from the cold that became fatal pneumonia. It accompanied a resolution urging Speaker Longworth to address the Alabama legislature. The gesture was proposed by an Alabama Democratic leader who had talked with the speaker for a few moments in Mc-Duffie's capitol office.

It was the "Nick" of such incidents who received first tributes up and down the capitol. It was he who is said to have inspired Democratic Leader Garner of Texas, to refer, once to "about 200 Longworth votes" which concededly dependent upon the decision of the speaker.

He was a big man, this "Nick."
He was bald and pudgy-faced, uncommonly healthy. His clothes and the handsome cane he carried were those of the wealth and position to which he was born. "Nick's" voice was as smooth as his hands, except when he was hoarse from colds to which he was subject.

When this man greeted anyone, he smiled; and his directness was the same with the messengers to whom he invariably nodded in the

HOUSE SPEAKER BEATEN IN HIS LAST STRUGGLE

Pneumonia Conquers Gallant Political Fighter, Ill Since Monday

FIRST ELECTED IN 1902

Ohioan Among Most Popular Figures in American Public Life

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover expected to attend the funeral of the late Speaker Longworth. It was announced at the White House today that the chief executive would be at the funeral although no definite plans have been communicated to him relative to Mrs. Longworth's wishes.

President Hoover probably will go on a special train to be present at the funeral at Cincinnati at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

President Hoover upon learning of the death of Mr. Longworth said that "he contributed greatly to the welfare of the American people" during a service of over 33 years. The president's statement said:

"Mr. Longworth served his fellow countrymen in state and nation for over 33 years—nearly the whole of his adult life. In his service he contributed greatly to the welfare of the American people. His happy character, his sterling honesty, his courage in public questions, endeared him and held the respect not alone of his myriad of friends but of the country at large. His passing is a loss to the nation."

Aiken, S. C.—(AP)—Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the national house of representatives succumbed to pneumonia here today.

The death of Mr. Aiken, dignified statesman, fought for more than three days, exhibiting a vitality that was the marvel of his physicians, against an infection of the lungs, but succumbed at 10:49 a.m.
E.S.T.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, widow of the Republican leader, made arrangements by long-distance telephone with the speaker's office at Washington to have the body taken directly to Cincinnati.

Funeral arrangements were placed in the hands of Sergeant-at-Arms Rogers of the house at Washington and he immediately got into communication with railroad officials to make special provisions for the funeral party.

Miss Mildred Reeves, Speaker
Longworth's secretary, is to leave Washington for Cincinnati today to complete arrangements there.

Shortly after the news of the speaker's death was flashed to the world, telegraph boys began to deliver messages of condolence which poured in from all over the globe.

There was an unusual stillness about the big colonial house as car after car came up, and the occupanants walked slowly into the building.

The window of the first floor room where the speaker had lain fighting for his life from Monday, was shaded for the first time in days to keep out the sunlight.

It was from this window that a physician signalled to newspapermen across the street that the statesman had died.

Mr. Longworth was rounding out his 70th year as a member of the house of representatives when he was selected in 1925 by his Republican colleagues, who held a safe majority for the 68th congress, as their candidate for speaker.

This honor came after a steady push toward the top through the various stages of apprenticeship as a boy representative from Ohio, distinguished service on the powerful ways and means committee, and one term as the majority floor leader. It also assured Ohio, which had furnished the Union seven presidents, its first speaker, since the early eighties when General J. Warren Keifer wielded the gavel, the first Ohioan to preside over the house.

Born with wealth and position on Nov. 5, 1860, in Cincinnati, his home ever since, Mr. Longworth, after attending Franklin school there, was graduated in 1881 from Harvard. He spent one year in Harvard Law school, then transferred to the Cincinnati Law school, graduating from that institution in 1884.

Although admitted to the bar, he did not practice to any extent. Instead he became interested in civic affairs, and soon was immersed in politics in the city over which "Boss" Cox then held sway. Despite his persistent inclination to remain

Lucas Opens Republican Vote Campaign In Southern States

FOES' DISCORD HELD ADVANTAGE TO REPUBLICANS

G. O. P. Leader Ridicules Raskob Program and Assails His Party

Washington —(P)—The Republican party has begun a campaign interpreted as an effort to gain something from Democratic discord over the Raskob proposals.

In an attack on the program suggested for 1932 by the Democratic National committee chairman, Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National committee, said last night the only concrete propositions offered by the opposing party had come from Raskob.

"Mr. Raskob," Lucas said in an appeal to the south over the Dixie network of the Columbia Broadcasting system, "makes the unique proposals that the solution of the economic problems now confronting the United States, and in which the south is vitally interested, may be solved by (1) repealing the federal anti-trust laws; and (2) offering every individual a drink.

"This is an entirely new school of political thought."

Lucas asserted continuing Republican tariff and other policies had aided development and prosperity of the south, adding:

"It's place, therefore, politically is in the Republican party."

Stresses Differences

He mentioned differences of opinion in the Democratic party. The house Democratic caucus called for last February was abandoned, he said, because "they ascertained that in the event they held such a caucus they could not agree upon anything and would in all probability wind up in an open quarrel."

The recent Democratic national committee meeting, when Raskob first advanced his suggestions for the 1932 platform, Lucas asserted, "ended in a near riot, with nothing accomplished."

"Why should the people of the south, Lucas asked, "in justice to themselves, continue an alliance with a political organization that is so bankrupt and so disorganized that it cannot present to the American people a concrete state ment as to what it believes and as to what it will do in event it is given control of the federal government?"

"Why should the people of the south continue to place themselves in a perpetual minority, and set themselves aside from the rest of the country politically by following such bankrupt leadership?"

Lucas did not discuss recent statements of Horace Mann, a southern Republican, who had announced an organization to oppose the renomination of President Hoover. Nor did he mention the just-ended trip of Postmaster General Brown through the south or Brown's prediction that Mr. Hoover will be renominated by acclamation.

Meanwhile, southern Democratic leaders who announced they would seek to prevent convention approval of the Raskob platform suggestions were silent. Some of them, however, already had expressed vigorous opposition to the proposals, especially that calling for commitment in favor of a constitutional amendment giving states control of prohibition.

110-Year Sentence

Paul Wupper, sentenced yesterday to a total of 110 years in the Nebraska penitentiary, after he had pleaded guilty to 20 counts of forgery.

The sentence included 20 years on one count and 10 years each for nine other offenses. He was fined a total of $5,000.

SECOND WIFE NOW WOULD HELP WUPPER

"I Never Thought They Would Take Him Away Forever," She Says

Philadelphia —(P)—Mrs. Frederick Brinkmann, second wife of Paul Wupper, the former banker of Beemer, Neb., sentenced yesterday to 110 years imprisonment, said today she would go to Nebraska if she thought doing so would aid him.

"I don't care what he did," she said. "I'm going to remember him, not as a thief, but as the man who was my husband." Wupper married her bigamously under the name of Frederick Brinkmann.

"I never thought they would take him away forever," she said. "I thought perhaps he would come back some day. I don't see why some of his relatives didn't help him. I was sure they'd get him out of the trouble."

"When I caused his arrest for non-support I thought it would have a good influence, and that he would come back to me a better man. I never dreamed it would come to this. But I'm glad he was man enough to go back and take his punishment."

Mrs. Brinkmann, who has claimed the $2,500 reward offered by the state of Nebraska for Wupper's arrest, plans to have her marriage to him annulled.

High Marks Are Set In Heat Wave

Kansas City —(P)—A spring heat wave that led to one prostration and established temperature records at several cities was the talk today in plains states dotted by snowdrifts ten days ago.

Abnormal weather conditions were reported from northern Oklahoma to the Canadian border yesterday. L. S. Ruggles, an auctioneer, was overcome while crying a sale in Lincoln, Kas. Dust storms swept North Dakota and Minnesota.

Weather observers forecast cloudy skies and possible showers for most of the section, which was struck recently by a belated winter storm.

Temperatures ranging from the high 70s to 80s inspired increased activity among farmers.

The mercury soared to 89 degrees at Pittsburg, Kas., and remained there through the day. The same reading at Fairmont, Minn., established the highest mark for April in 44 years.

At Davenport, Iowa, April 3 went down as the hottest on record with 86 degrees. Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., Des Moines and Sioux City, Iowa, recorded readings of 83 degrees. A maximum of 80 was recorded in Chicago.

Further south, Kansas City residents complained of spring fever with a maximum of 83 degrees. Thermometers at Winfield, Kas., registered 87 degrees, Oklahoma City 76, and Dallas 68.

Thunder showers at Dodge City, Kas., and Amarillo, Texas, were reported sweeping eastward last night.

WASHINGTON IN MOURNING OVER OHIOAN'S DEATH

Capitol Flags Half-masted for Speaker Nicholas Longworth

Washington —(P)—The death of Speaker Longworth came as a sudden blow today to official Washington.

Word spread quickly over the capital, where he had been known and liked for more than a quarter of a century. Expressions of regret were spontaneous. Flags on the capitol were half staffed 15 minutes after his death.

Funeral arrangements were held in abeyance pending word from Mrs. Longworth at Aiken, S. C., where she was visiting.

The funeral committee will be named by Rogers and William Tyler Page, the house clerk, after consultation later. It has been suggested it consist of personal friends, one representative from each state, and the Ohio delegation. Final rites will be held in Cincinnati.

President Hoover upon learning of the death of Speaker Longworth ordered Col. Campbell B. Hodges, his military aide, to leave for Aiken at once by airplane to assist Mrs. Longworth in any way possible.

The news swept rapidly through a capitol still crowded with holiday visitors. Tourists passed the house from mouth to mouth along the crowded corridors.

Chairman Wood of the house appropriations committee, who was in the speaker's office when word of Mr. Longworth's death was received, said:

"The loss of Mr. Longworth is a loss to the nation. His long years as a member of the house has qualified him as but few men have been qualified for exceptional service to his country."

"He died with the respect of all his colleagues and his memory will be cherished as long as those who knew him survive."

Kept Long Fight

News of the end was received in the speaker's office by a force that had kept vigil since Monday.

Miss Mildred Reeves, secretary to the speaker and his employe for 15 years, heard the word from the White House, by telephone. A moment later a representative walked in, asked "Is there anything I can do, Mildred?"

"Not a thing," the secretary said. She turned then to answer one of two telephone calls that had been ringing continuously all morning.

There were also in the office Sergeant-at-Arms Rodgers, two men of the office staff, and Mrs. Lucille McArthur, a member of the staff for about six years.

Mrs. McArthur said Mrs. Longworth took the blow bravely.

"She was just wonderful," Mrs. McArthur said of her repeated phone conversations with Mrs. Longworth in Aiken.

The speaker was ill when he left last Monday. Mrs. Longworth telephoned the speaker's physician on Monday morning. On Tuesday afternoon, she told the women in the office he had bronchial pneumonia.

"Then they knew the illness was very serious."

Tributes to the speaker were immediately forthcoming.

Vice President Curtis said the country "has lost a faithful legislator."

"The sudden illness and death of Speaker Longworth was a great shock to all who knew him," he said. "In his passing, the house has lost a distinguished and able speaker, one whose rulings were always fair and impartial."

"The country has lost a faithful legislator. His name is indelibly inscribed in the pages of our nation's history. The nation mourns with his wife and family."

Chairman Royal C. Johnson of the house veterans committee, said:

"It is a great tragedy. He was so lovable and at the same time so efficient that members of the house and country will hardly realize their loss for a long while."

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington:

"To have been elected speaker of the house of representatives three times and named by his party for a fourth term stamps Nicholas Longworth as a man of great ability and capacity. His death is a real loss to his party and to his country."

Representative Ayres, Democrat, Kansas, said: "The nation has sustained a grave loss at his death."

Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, a leader of the progressive bloc in the house, said:

"It is hard to realize Speaker Longworth has passed away."

Senator Davis of Pennsylvania, said:

"The house of representatives has lost a fair and consistent presiding officer and the party an able exponent of its principles."

Zaro Agha, Aged Turk, Is Happy On Return Voyage

New York —(P)—Zaro Agha, the Turk who claims to be 157 years old, sailed for home today on the Bremen and glad he was to shake the dust of the United States from his American style shoes.

For this Turk, who says he is a veteran of five wars and eleven marriages, he had enough of us. He wants to get back to his house in Stambul. Everybody has been most kind to him. He has met such American eminents as Elisabeth Marbury, Democratic national committeewoman from New York, and Tallulah Bankhead, actress. But to a man who says he remembers the face of Napoleon Bonaparte, such honors are puny.

Zaro has been feeling cooped up lately. He has lived in various hotels during the last few months and his only exercise has been walking. His interpreter is authority for the statement that he has covered 20 to 25 blocks daily—pretty good hike for a man of 157. But it hasn't been enough.

In Stambul he will be close to the various farms of his various relatives—there are 35 sons and daughters alone, by Zaro's count—and on a farm a man can really stretch himself.

A couple of days before he sailed Zaro had the misfortune to damage a new club. New clubs will be organized, the county leaders said, until the proposed members of clubs have found a responsible leader.

Teachers are asked to bring the attention of the young folks, both in school and out, to the opportunities for self development through 4-H club work. If a club already existed in a community the teachers are asked to cooperate with the leader in reorganizing it.

"Four-H club work," the bulletin points out, "is a publicly supported and directed educational enterprise of the United States Department of Agriculture, state agricultural colleges and county governments. It is designed to teach through doing, and is so organized as to teach better practices in agricultural and home economics, and the finer things of rural life, and at the same time develop wholesome, industrious, public spirited boys and girls."

Own Officers

"Four-H clubs are groups of boys and girls organized with their own officers that meet, study, work and play together under guidance of an adult leader. The club program usually flows from and centers about the project work each boy or girl is doing at his or her home. The program is enriched by demonstrations, exhibits, songs, games, yells, music and social activities. Club members learn by doing. They undertake some worthwhile project and in carrying it on endeavor to put into practice the best known methods of agriculture and home economics.

"General rules of the clubs decree that members must be from 10 to 20 years of age; that their parents must consent and support their work while they must undertake a worthwhile business record on his or her project; that they must band in a record and short story on the project; and that they must make a public exhibit in order to be eligible for an achievement pin.

"Farm projects from which a choice may be made include: calves, poultry, gardening, or tending to a crop. Home projects from which a choice may be made include: sewing, foods for health, or first aid."

ASK AID OF RURAL TEACHERS IN 4-H CLUB 1931 PROGRAM

County Agent and Home Demonstration Leader Start Organization Plans

The cooperation of rural school teachers is asked, in a bulletin issued last week by Gus Sell, county agent, and Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent, in the 4-H club program for the coming season.

Mr. Sell and Miss Thompson point out that they are not anxious to start many new groups this year, although they do want to increase the membership of existing clubs. They will take care of any groups that show an interest in the program for a new club.

New clubs will be organized, the county leaders said, until the proposed members of clubs have found a responsible leader.

FEW CHANGES REVEALED BY VOTE CANVASS

Six Aldermen to Be Sworn in at Meeting Next Tuesday

The canvass of votes made by the common council Wednesday evening resulted in a few minor changes in count but did not affect the election of any candidate.

Unless an official recount, being considered at the present time, should result in a radical change, the aldermen who will be sworn in next Tuesday will be C. O. Davis, First ward; Oren Earle, Second ward; W. H. Gmeiner, Third ward; R. F. McGilgan, Fourth ward; Wenzel Hassmann, Fifth ward; and Philipp Vogt, Sixth ward. Because of the close votes in the election of Gmeiner and Davis, these are the only aldermen choices which might be affected by a recount.

Aldermen McGilgan and Vogt and Supervisor Fred Wiese each received one more vote in the canvass Wednesday night and Michael Jacobs, Fourth ward supervisor, lost one. However, none of these changes effect the standing of the officials.

With little else on the docket, the aldermen spent their argumentative powers on the question of appropriations for convention decorations. The request for $250 to decorate the streets for the Kiwanis convention in June was refused by a 9 to 1 vote, with Aldermen Vanderheyden and Steinhauer absent. Alderman Packard cast the only affirmative vote.

Packard For Decorations

Alderman Packard argued that the expenditure of a small amount in decorations would entice conventions to the city, thereby bringing business to the merchants who have just passed through a slack winter. Alderman Thompson refuted this argument with the statement that the decorations are no drawing card, that in most cases the conventions are scheduled long before the request for city aid is made. Alderman Vogt stated that it was dangerous to start a precedent in the matter of appropriations for decorations, as other conventions would petition for like assistance. Alderman McGilgan felt that there was no need to tax the man with the dinner pail for decorating the streets.

Upon petition of property owners on Verbrick-st, the paving of that

But the drought impoverished his benefactors and he returned to prison, a voluntary parole violator, to end his days.

38 COUNTY BOYS SEEK MILITARY TRAINING

Outagamie-co has turned in 38 applications for C. M. T. The matter of the Glendale plat, town of Grand Chute, was referred to the city engineer and planning commission.

The aldermen who canvassed the votes were Harvey Kitterer, Richard Groth and C. D. Thompson.

FEWER CARS WERE REGISTERED FROM CITY DURING MONTH

Decreases Also Noted in Totals for State and County

There were 92 new automobiles registered in Appleton in March, compared with 133 in the same month in 1930, according to a report from Theodore Dammann, secretary of state. The decrease here corresponded to the trend in both the county and state.

In the first three months of 1931 there were only 173 new cars registered in the city, compared with 228 up to the same time in 1930. Of the 173 cars registered this year, 153 were passenger cars or trucks, 20 were commercial cars or trucks.

Only 139 new cars were registered from Outagamie-co in March, compared to 243 in the same month in 1930. Up to the end of March this year there were only 280 cars registered as against 421 in the same period last year.

Similar decreases in car sales are noted for the entire state. In March, 1930, there were 10,241 new cars registered throughout the state while in March, 1931, there were only 6,443 new cars licensed. The total number of new licenses issued up to the end of March this year is 13,893 as compared with 20,725 in the same period last year.

Following is a list of cities of about the same size as Appleton, the first figure showing the number of cars registered in March and the second the number registered up to the end of March:

Appleton, 92, 173; Fond du Lac, 92, 169; Green Bay, 180, 272; Manitowish, 78, 159; Menasha, 19, 27; Neenah, 24, 44; Oshkosh, 104, 236; Sheboygan, 32, 173.

The Institute will be one of the most completely electrified buildings in the city. It will include 72 lighting circuits, four lighting transformers, 12 circuits with a total consumption of 100 amperes, about 20 motors, a 600-ampere main service, and four direct current circuits which will be used in the building.

The total cost of the permit was $25.75. The largest permit issued prior to the chemistry building one cost $5.

ILLNESS DECLINES IN CITY SCHOOLS

Colds Chief Cause of Ailments, Nurses' Reports Show

With the exception of a considerable number of colds, cases of illness among school children were on the decrease during March, the monthly report of school nurses shows. The two nurses made 32 visits for colds, three for correction of teeth, 22 of bad tonsils, two of defective eyes and two of poor vision were corrected. Pupils given complete inspection numbered 364, and 192 were given partial inspection. First aid was administered to 35, 14 temperatures were taken, 10 pupils were excluded from school and 22

ONLY TWO CASES OF TRUANCY LAST MONTH

Apparently spring fever did not take foothold with school pupils during March, for only two cases of truancy are reported for the month by J. G. Pfeil, truant officer. Of the other 25 cases of non-attendance investigated, 12 were attributed to parental negligence, and 13 to other causes. Four parents were notified of violation of the law, two cases of destitution were discovered, and one boy was returned to school. Mr. Pfeil made 109 calls during the month, and visited 56 schools.

Of the 27 cases of non-attendance, 17 were boys and 10 were girls.

FISHERMEN WAIT FOR ANNUAL "RUN" OF PIKE

Hundreds of fishermen from this vicinity are seen daily at Fremont, where they are waiting for the annual run of pike and white bass. Most of the ice is out of Partridge

4 PAY FINES FOR VIOLATING STATE GAME REGULATIONS

Two Others Plead Not Guilty and Will Have Hearing March 23

Three of five men, arrested last night on the Wolf river in the town of Maine on a charge of spearing fish, were fined $50 and costs each by Judge Fred V. Heinemann in municipal court this morning when they pleaded guilty. The other two pleaded not guilty, and preliminary hearings were set for March 23. They each furnished bonds of $500. The three who pleaded guilty were: Ben Peterson, H. A. Hamon and Malcomb Leeman, all of the town of Maine. Those who pleaded not guilty were: Henry Leeman and L. F. Carner, also of the town of Maine. The judge gave the three who pleaded guilty until Friday to pay their fines. If they do not pay they must spend 30 days in the county jail.

The five men were arrested last night by a squad of game wardens, headed by Arthur Dick. Officer Dick told the court the five men were in a boat, using a gas torch and spears. He said he confiscated more than 50 fish, including pike, pickerel, perch, bullheads, sunfish and bass. Martin Jacquet, Hortonville, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Wednesday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of using a fish trap in the

BIG BILL IS DESERTED

Emil Ludwig, writer of many biographies, has asserted that leaders, military, political and otherwise, go into an eclipse about in proportion to the growth of their waistbands.

But William Hale Thompson who has been lord mayor of Chicago since he discovered that it contained more Germans than any city in the world except Berlin, and thereupon declared war against Great Britain, has for long defied the rule that fat makes for oblivion.

Now we find that Ludwig was right. The election has demonstrated the truth of the rule that though "the race is not to the swift alone," leaders must still watch their belts and cannot tarry too long at tables loaded with porterhouse steaks and fried onions.

Mr. Thompson believes that the red blood of our revolutionary forefathers has thinned out into an enervated serum, for when the drum beat was sounded he found the front trenches deserted and only a few craven slaves, trembling for their lives, in the tents.

He was agitated. Loudly he roared: "Down with King George." An empty echo was his only answer.

With purple face he bellowed: "I'd bust the king on the snoot." He received no response. Time was when those expressions caused every temple to tingle giddily and chests heaved proudly in the realization that the people were again repulsing the hireling red coats from our gates and all were willing to "die for hearth and home."

What a wonderful man was Big Bill in those days, so courageous to address the monarch of all the British dominions in such a manner.

But daily Big Bill became fatter and still a little more fat, slower in action, mumbling of tongue, turgid of mental process. Fat was his undoing.

And now over in Buckingham palace, King George flits around from room to room, breathing audible sighs of relief and accepting congratulations merrily. Pages pass heavy silver trays loaded with beakers of champagne, the princes smile sardonically as they quaff each other's health in the realization that their old foe has fallen, even though it was his own obesity that was his undoing.

Yes, tonight King George may slumber, and even snore, in peace.

Nor is Big Bill so unfortunate. Formerly those who have thrown the gauntlet in defiance before the throne have sizzled at the stake, or left the block headless, or become a piece de resistance in a pot of boiling oil.

THE GOVERNOR'S PARDON

In releasing a young communist who had served six of a twelve months' sentence because he regarded the punishment as excessive, Governor LaFollette correctly stated that such men crave heavy sentences so that they may appear as martyrs, wishing to be impressed "with an importance they do not possess." A failure to appreciate this fact arises because the average normal person finds it hard to gauge or understand the abnormal. It is difficult to believe, though it is often true, that men will inflict punishment or even torture upon themselves just because, to them, it has an exquisite side.

Our communist leaders,—if the word may be so used or misused,—prove in many instances that "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing." Learning of some individual wrongs, single cases of injustice, and expecting perfection from others when they are most lacking in it themselves, they heedlessly decline to ascertain that injustice is the exception and not the rule, and hence plunge headlong into a denunciation of everything, and with no realization of the care, the patience and the toil that have been expended in going as far as civilization has advanced.

A careful investigation of these alleged leaders in eastern states, exposed, by name, dates and instances, that none of them would work, could not keep a position, would not or could not apply themselves, were erratic mentally and probably belonged to a class called neurotic.

To them the public spotlight is as welcome as food to the famished. Reason does not appeal to them for egoism does not listen to sense.

Sometimes with maturity comes the realization that their radicalism was but an aberration of youth, for age learns that no siren ever more devilishly deceived.

THE PRESIDENT GOES TO THE COUNTRY

The expenses of the federal government are greater than its income although the amount of the deficit cannot be clearly known. Estimates place it as high as $800,000,000.

There has been a shrinkage of $220,000,000 in income taxes paid in March of this year as compared to the same month last year.

There has been a shrinkage of imports, both in value and quantity, reducing that source about $130,000,000 to date.

In spite of this shrinkage the expenses of government have mounted and the demands upon it continue unabated.

With these facts in mind the president, after a cabinet discussion of financial affairs, stated that there would be no increase in taxes "if the next congress imposes no increases upon the budget," but the president's quoted language includes an "if," the big prepositional.

In making this statement the president tried to speak to the people of the country, stating that if congress is to abide by the budget "the people must cooperate to effectively discourage and postpone consideration of the demands of sectional and group interest." It is unusual for a president to speak directly to the people and ask their cooperation in such matters.

President Wilson did so, unsuccessfully, in the attempt to arouse support for the League of Nations some twelve years ago. Despite the righteousness of his appeal it came at an inopportune time. The people felt the straitjacket of idealism born of the war, were tired of it, and had no stomach for anything but to get back to normalcy.

It is more likely that President Hoover will strike a responsive ear because he has the aid of the recent unsuccessful experience of the country in trying to artificially create prosperity.

By this time all should have learned that despite our great size, the enormous wealth of the country, its 120,000,000 energetic, intelligent people, its gigantic influence throughout the world in every line of endeavor, its position at the forefront of industrial achievement, its barrier preventing the world dumping cheaply grown or created articles upon its markets, it nevertheless cannot go on spending more than its income.

In that respect it is no different than its humblest citizen.

The budget which the president supports is not a parsimonious one. The government is going ahead with every conceivable matter of internal improvement but it is not trying to dump money where it will become a mere waste, though it is trying to accumulate and accelerate constructive measures out of which the people will have a return for every dollar spent.

Opinions Of Others

FUNDS FOR A MEMORIAL TO HAYM SALOMON

An appeal to the country is in progress to collect a New York City memorial to the Polish Jew, Haym Salomon, whose devotion to the American cause of our War of Independence has been obscured. The cornerstone will be laid July 4 and $150,000 is asked in public contributions to assure speedy and adequate completion of the monument. It seems probable that the fund will be quickly raised, and not from Jewish sources alone.

Here was a man and a story which justified recent biography by Charles Edward Russell. While enough is presented in the book to prove national obligation its reading arouses a regret that the full records of an exceptional man's exceptional part in establishing our independent nation have not been preserved.

Coming to this country a penniless immigrant, Haym Salomon succeeded in business in New York. At the cost of heavy losses in money and hardships which included imprisonment and an escape from execution by a flight in the night to Philadelphia, he cast his lot with the patriots. Throughout the Revolution, he was the practical broker and financier who chiefly helped Robert Morris find the credit and money to carry on the war.

The fact clearly is that Salomon died in financial straits because he gave his own large private earnings to the support both of other famous patriots and of the young and struggling American government itself. Several official investigations have admitted that the present nation owes the Salomon heirs a large sum which never has been paid. Full proof of the precise amount has been deemed lacking. The test that can be done to honor the able, courageous and self-sacrificing son of the Jewry of Poland is to erect the proposed memorial.—Detroit News.

The interest in the Chicago election was so great around here that a lot of people forgot to vote locally.

But several people were elected just the same.

It's said that A. J. Cermak did not look particularly elated when it was shown that he had won the election.

Well, it is something like handing a fellow a bee farm to run all by himself, to make him mayor of Chicago.

Chicago columnists writing at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon (an hour before the polls closed) were congratulating Mr. Cermak in their columns yesterday. Post-Mortem scooped 'em. We told about Big Bill's vacation at noon. But it didn't get into the paper until last night.

A fellow who practiced for fifteen minutes a day is able to crawl through a space as small as a tennis racket frame and lie on a bed of spikes and let people walk on him.

All for fifteen minutes a day folks. But we'll bet that even an hour's practice a day wouldn't get him used to living with a flock of nice Wisconsin mosquitoes.

Polly Moran, she of the movie laughs, fell down in her home the other day and broke her nose. Which is something a comedienne can't even laugh off.

Somebody keeps advertising a way to hold false teeth tightly in place. Well, you can do it with both hands, if nothing else.

Los Angeles had chills and then the temperature ran up to ninety degrees the other day. Tek, tek. Send 'em back to Appleton where the weather is always consistent. (Pretty often, consistently bad.)

Michigan voted down the death penalty thing again. And the old thought comes up: "What difference does the penalty make as long as it's enforced?"

After all, Wisconsin DOES have blue laws. But what of it?

Life, humorous weekly, recently went to using street sales in New York City. Judge, competing and similar weekly, learning that some of Life's salesmen were peeping up business with a "working" way through college story" sent out a flock of false-bearded "sandwich men" with signs reading—"buy Judge and help me work my way through college."

MEN AND CANARIES

Canary in your golden cage,
Singing so blithely all the day,
You seem to live your little age
Contented with the role you play.

I've watched you through the sunny hours,
Happy to do the thing you can.
With rarer wisdom than is ours
You play the fretful part of man.

We long to be what we are not,
We, the spectators, yearn to play,
The dancers weary of their lot
And badly sing a roundelay.

But you, canary, seem content
One lovely tidbit to earth to bring.
You seem to know that you were meant
To live your little life to sing.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE OLDER THAN YOU ARE NOW

At twenty-six you have your first momentary thought about how it feels to be thirty. At thirty you look forward with vague melancholy to the settled age of forty—you don't see yourself at that time but some near future who has tapered along to that age. When you've slipped past forty without casualty you shrink from regarding fifty at all—it is too horrible to think about it. Then when fifty comes and goes you begin to breathe more naturally and you just sit back and smile at all your young anxieties about being older. By now you no longer believe in bogies. You look at life in either direction and your reaction is what the dickens, not in any spirit of reverence or even irony, but just that you have learned to enjoy it fully as you go along, without worrying constantly about the road ahead. I suppose, tho, that the young "uns will neither understand this nor derive any satisfaction about their own old age from such philosophy.

For years I have been characterizing all who did not quite agree with me as old fogies, old fossils, old women, old maids, old geezers, old timers, old birds, and every little while some old curmudgeon has come back at me with prediction that perhaps some day I'd know how it feels to be older. I know now and I wish to confirm and emphasize all I've ever said about the old crabs.

A group of young ladies majoring in hygiene and physical ed and I fancy soldering in other subjects submits a questionnaire asking (1) to what I attribute my vigor and vitality, (2) whether I regard smoking as a bar to longevity and (3) do I mind stating in confidence whether or not I actually follow up my own teachings in the matter of clothing, heating, exposure to cold and wet and rolling somersaults.

My v. v. and I attribute chiefly to minding the elementary rules of health and following common sense principles of hygiene.

I believe temperate smoking by adults neither injures health nor opposes longevity. But any smoking by children (persons who have not yet attained full adult development physically, mentally and morally is ruinous to health and shortens life.

I do not take all my own medicine, but so far as that is concerned I challenge comparison with any other health authority the girls may trot out for a contest. Only once this winter have I put on a very light overcoat—the most men around here wear 'em constantly. I go much about without a hat—I'd never wear one if I had a wedge of hair, but I'm a sensitive bird and I can't philosophically while conventionally covered morons make wisecracks about the nut with the gleaming dome.

Frankly I go for weeks at a time without rolling a somersault—but I roll myself enough to keep from getting downright dignified. I sincerely believe that young people who never forget how to roll a few somersaults night and morning will stay young longer. I do not advise anybody who suffers from false dignity, stiffness and premature senility to try somersaults. I merely tell you I like to roll 'em myself and I believe they are good for one. If you decide to try it and break your neck or lose your dinner or anything we're sorry you began so old, but understand clearly that any reader who joins the Somersaultauca comes in at his own peril. It takes scarcely a minute to do your half dozen rolls, coming up on your feet smiling after each turn. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and say you want the By-Laws of the Somersaultauca. It's an excellent way to stir up the circulation and keep a cheerful frame of mind.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Lindotype Operator

A year and half ago I was operated on for T. B. glands of the neck and under right arm. It will be about two months before I can say I'm fully recovered. I want to become a lindotype operator. Will such work have any effect on my condition? H. M.

Answer.—Such work will be all right for you. Choose a modern plant to work in, one where there is good ventilation, natural or artificial, to carry off fumes of molten lead.

Dentist Going to Fatten Up

It may interest you to know that I have at last decided to try your advice to use insulin to stimulate my appetite and help me gain weight. I am 29 years old, 6'7 1/2 inches in height and weigh 127 pounds. We started treatment three days ago under Dr. ——. Would appreciate any further information. (Dr. S. F. F.)

Answer.—Your doctor probably knows best how to manage it. Keep some candy, sugar or fruit at hand and eat some if you feel uncomfortable or weak or strange soon after a dose. It is high time for the fancy price on insulin to drop, but pending a reduction, sometimes it may be purchased for much less from so-called cut-rate drug stores.

Not Made in Germany

Where do you get that "new diathemy" stuff? I had my tonsils removed that way by Dr. — of Albany, N. Y., way back in 1895 and never a sign of trouble since. He used a pencil shaped device with a bare wire loop at the end which became incandescent when the current was applied. — brought it home with him from Germany. — (G. F. W.)

Answer.—Evidently you confuse the cautery with diathemy. Nothing gets red hot in diathemy. There is no burning. The cautery was discarded long ago because burning is too crude and produces excessive reaction and hence scar. That is one of the special points of superiority of diathemy over surgical tonsil removal—the diathemy method produces less disturbance of the tissue, less shock, less reaction and less scar formation than ordinary surgery.

The Funny Wisdom of Dog Breeders

Often note remarks about children eating gravel or sand or dirt. When a dog breeder sees such a symptom in his dog he will instantly treat the dog for worms. — (L. J. P.)

Answer.—Yes, I've heard dog fanciers spout such lore. It is tough on the dogs, as any competent veterinary surgeon can tell you. As for children, the eating of dirt is no indication of worms and the presence of worms is no indication for treatment.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

WITHIN their boat they rode around and everywhere they went they found a lot of pretty scenery. Said Scouty, "I suggest that we stay out here till it's night. Then, if the moon is shining bright, I know it will be pretty. In the meantime we can rest."

"Ah, that is great," we Clowny cried. "Of course I like this sort of ride, but rest sounds even better and I guess I'll snooze a while. Be quiet as you can. Don't peep and then I'll get a chance to sleep." The laziness of Clowny made the other Tynmites smile.

It wasn't long until 'twas night and soon the moon was shining bright. Another boat came near them and some music filled the air. "Oh, listen," Copy cried. "That's sweet! I claim that this is quite a treat. Why, if I had to ride out here all night, I wouldn't care."

But Mister Travel Man said, "No! We can't do that. It's time to go and crawl into some comfy beds where we can sleep at ease. I know what's best, so follow me and soon in slumberland, we'll be." The Tynmites obeyed him 'cause it wasn't nice to tease.

Next morning they were out again. They strolled around a while and then one of the Tynmites shouted, "Look, I see a funny sight." A man

A Bystander In Washington

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—It will be well to keep an eye on the junior senator from New Mexico now that so much is being heard of progressive conferences and pow-wows in Washington.

For Bronson Cutting apparently is looming as a real power in that group of insurgents headed by Borah, Norris and LaFollette.

A "youngster" of the senate, he is considered among the most capable men in that body.

He is not the type of man one associates with the west. He is an easterlyer by birth and environment—a westerner by adoption.

He comes from one of America's oldest families—"the New York Cuttings"—a family that long has been interested in government. But he is the first of the line to branch out in the national field. His forefathers confined their activities to New York state.

His health sent him west shortly after graduating from Harvard. He might have returned years ago, but he grew to love the west and decided to make it his home.

Athletic Appearance

Today he has all the appearance of an athlete. Quick of step, tall, athletic and vigorous he has a personality distinctly pleasing.

In capital society he is regarded as one of Washington's most eligible bachelors. Wealthy, he lives with his mother in a beautiful old mansion in Georgetown.

Cutting took an early interest in politics. He supported Roosevelt enthusiastically in 1912, and joined wholeheartedly in the progressive movement.

At the outbreak of the world war he was commissioned a captain and served overseas. Later he held the post of assistant military attaché of the American embassy in London.

For his services in the war Great Britain gave him the military cross.

Newspaper Publisher

But his real love is newspaper work. For many years he has been publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican. He is also publisher of a weekly paper.

In New Mexico the natives of Spanish-American descent regard him as their champion and friend. About 50 per cent of the state's population is comprised of this class.

Senator Cutting's first bid for prominence in the senate came during consideration of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill last year. He helped force repeal of a censorship law on obscene and seditious literature.

Like a learned professor of literature he lectured his colleagues. He paraded before them the works of masters of all ages, and on all he talked with familiarity.

Today's Anniversary

SEIZURE OF WAR SHIPS

On April 9, 1917, United States customs officials seized 14 Austrian merchant ships in American ports after news was flashed from Washington that a formal break had come between this country and Austria-Hungary.

The ships taken were at New York, Boston, New Orleans, Pensacola, Galveston, Newport, Philadelphia and Tampa, and their total tonnage was 67,507 gross.

As was the case with German ships seized the previous week, the machinery in most of them had been damaged. Explaining the status of the ships in a statement issued at Washington, Secretary of Treasury McAdoo said that the government had not confiscated the vessels but had acted for the purpose of protecting them "from further injury." The officers and crews of the ships were taken into custody by the Department of Labor.

Then caught the Tynmites' eye. He smiled at them and shouted, "I am selling wondrous pottery. I'll promise it's all right."

The Travel Man gave him some change and said, "You may think that it's strange, but we don't want your pottery. We'll only look around. These lads are traveling 'round the land and sights like this are simply grand. They get a lot of pleasure out of everything that's found."

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCH

New York—City oddities: Shipping offices high up in steamship row along the Battery are conning towers of modern commerce.

From their windows, dispatches of tugboats follow the shuttling of their crafts back and forth across the harbor. They scan the waters though powerful spyglasses for an idle boat and then signal it with flags to go somewhere else and pick up a cargo. . . .

Then there's a new edition of the window flapjack flipper. He's a Japanese with a shop on Third-ave. In the window he takes rice cakes.

A spot of batter is dropped between a pair of small flat disks at the end of long dandles, life fire-tongs. A dozen of these irons are laid on a gas plate to bake.

There's a federal courtroom in the Woolworth building. . . . And upon Madison avenue is an English shop that sells, among many other products, the chutney, grouse, kippers, kangaroo tail soup and coxcombs in jelly. Some day we are going there to see if they have treacle, too.

It's a branch of a London store, founded in 1710 by a servant of Queen Anne. Royal etiquette forbids the salting of the palace candles. He set his start selling the unused wax. . . .

Manhattan's Reuben, the restaurateur who began naming sandwiches for celebrities, has outgrown his original delicatessen up where Broadway is just ornate apartments.

The place of his humble beginning becomes a dairy luncheon. That leaves only one Reuben's, the after-theater spot on Madison avenue, where the stars congregate for their midnight coffee.

It once was said that New York's three R's are Roxy's, Rudy Vallee and Reuben's.

Jitter Shop
Place like Reuben's make New York nights what they are for people who go about a bit—virtually sleepless.

Especially when a friend comes to visit a few days and wants to see everything.

The New Yorker probably hasn't been in one of the famous spots in weeks, or months. But he has to make the round of them.

So they dine in a fashionable hotel and dance to the music of Vincent Lopez. Everybody, it seems, wants to see the man behind the radio voice they have been hearing on the hoosier hour.

Then the party dashes to a theater arriving late. From the show it speeds up to Harlem to hear Cab Calloway's orchestra play George Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue and see the rumbustious chorus.

After that there is still Greenwich Village, with its Hot Feet club and some more blazing diversion.

Finally the gang goes to Reuben's to show Cousin Ben and the girls Fanny Ward, Harry K. Thaw or Peggy Hopkins Joyce. If none of those happens to be there the host is given to understand that New York isn't such a hot place after all.

But the next day, his head tells him what a plain his fellow-townsmen set. Cousin Ben's head rocks a bit, too, and he goes back wondering how these New Yorkers stand it. The answer is they don't very often.

BOY HERO OF BUS TRAGEDY TRYING TO FORGET PAINS

Plays Harmonica While Nursing Frozen Feet—Modest About Honors

Lamar, Colo., (AP)—Playing "Oh, Dem Golden Slippers" on a harmonica as he sat with his feet in a basin of hot water, Bryan Untiedt, 13-year-old hero of the Pleasant Hill school bus tragedy, tried to divert his mind yesterday from the pains which raced through his feet and legs.

They were frozen in a blizzard which claimed the lives of five of his school mates and the bus driver two weeks ago.

Bryan spends his time upon a cot in the living room. He is adept on the harmonica, and went through a repertoire which included Casey Jones, Three Blind Mice and Darling Nellie Gray.

"Yes," said Bryan, "that helps. It makes me forget the aches."

The boy, whom President Hoover has invited to be a White House guest, bears his affliction, as well as the unexpected honors he has received, philosophically. An attractive lad, he has regular features and brown hair, including a Lindbergh tuft. His voice is soft. He seems unconcerned over the fact he has become a national hero through giving away his clothing and scuffling with marooned companions to guard them from the loathsome of death.

But he was looking forward to speaking, with other survivors, in a hookup of the National Broadcasting company at 4 o'clock P. M., (M. S. T.) today and the trip to Washington, perhaps some time next week. The broadcast, from a Lamar hospital, will be relayed by KOA, Denver.

Bryan smiled at the antics of his smaller brothers and sisters, Virgil II, who escaped the bus ordeal because he did not attend school the day of the fatal blizzard, was more active than the other children. They, like Bryan, still are suffering from frozen feet.

"He wouldn't be so fresh if he'd been in the bus," observed Bryan.

"Yes, but I was unconscious near two weeks when I was burned with gasoline three years ago," his small brother replied.

Bryan told of another instance in which he had suffered from injuries. "Last summer a horse fell on me," he said. "My foot was crushed. One night there was an electric storm and daddy showed it to me. 'Look, look,' he said. I looked and watched the flashes of lightning and then I noticed I didn't feel the pain. But it's awful hard to forget."

The Untiedt home is a modest green painted house on 10 acres of land. The family raises mostly corn and burns corn cobs to ease the fuel bill.

Who's Who On The Appleton Post-Crescent

Number 28

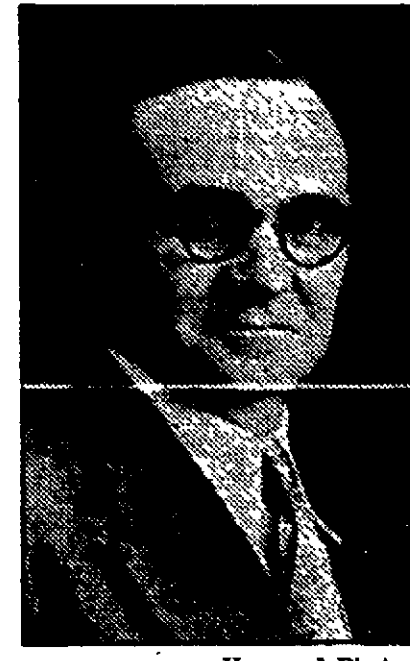

(This is the twenty-eighth of a series of articles about members of the staff of the Appleton Post-Crescent. The articles will seek to acquaint readers of this newspaper with those persons as individuals and also will discuss the nature of their work. Members of the staff are presented in the order of their length of service. The twenty-ninth article will appear tomorrow.)

Two different and fascinating worlds are at the fingertips of E. W. Lake, linotype operator for the Post-Crescent.

All day long he sits in front of his linotype, letting the world news of the current day literally slip through his fingers as he swiftly transfers the words into type. When his workday is over, Mr. Lake gleams interesting facts of history as he leisurely turns the pages of the books he enjoys.

He is especially interested in ancient history, with the desire to understand how people lived in Greece, Egypt and Rome, and learn to know the lives of prominent men of ancient times. The life of Julius Caesar and Roman history are particular subjects Mr. Lake likes to read and has often studied. He is as well informed in early American history as ancient times from his assiduous reading of the lives of American statesmen. He professes to learn the background of American history through the biographies of great men. He has read the lives of such statesmen as Daniel Webster, Patrick Henry, Henry Clay, Stonewall Jackson, Robert E. Lee, Ulysses S. Grant. Unlike most people who would think a task well done if they had read all of the Beacon Lights of History, Mr. Lake has read these volumes several times.

Mr. Lake says that he grew into his interest in printing, beginning as an errand boy in a small shop in Fairmount, Minn. The mechanics of printing fascinated him as a boy, and after the men had finished their work, he practised on the linotype machines until he learned to operate them. He came to the Post-Crescent as linotype operator in 1923. Five years later he went to Greenville, Ohio, to work for the News-Tribune. From there he went to the Wausau Record-Herald as a linotype operator and after two years in Wausau, he returned to the Post-Crescent.

Mr. Lake was born in Martin County, near Fairmount, Minn. He received his grade and high school education in Fairmount. He and Mrs. Lake live at 123 State-st. with their four children, Ada Mae, Jean, Catherine and baby Pat. Ada Mae and Jean attend St. Joseph school.

IOWA INQUIRY BELIEVED TO BE NEAR ITS CLOSE

Des Moines, (AP)—The return of the legislative committee to Des Moines today forecast the close of the University of Iowa investigation after eight days of testimony at Iowa City. The committee hoped to clean up taking evidence this week so that a report can be made to the general assembly time next week. The report will be presented shortly before adjournment, it was anticipated.

The committee made a final visit to the university business office yesterday afternoon while Attorney Denis Kelleher reviewed the contents of the financial records with Auditor W. H. Cobb and Ray Slezak.

Kelleher inquired particularly into the transfer of money from legislative appropriations to building funds. He claimed his survey of construction since 1923 showed $2,000,000 more had been spent than the appropriations totaled. Cobb said a number of factors would have to be considered in making this comparison.

MISSING PORTRAIT OF HAYES BEING SOUGHT

New York, (AP)—For five years Dalesia Carmine, Art dealer, has been hunting a missing portrait of Rutherford B. Hayes in his shirtsleeves. That is, the nineteenth president of the United States is pictured in shirtsleeves.

The canvas was painted by Thomas Eakins and it's worth, Mr. Carmine said, about $75,000.

The portrait was painted for the Union League club of New York, and because the artist couldn't arrange regular sittings he set up his easel beside the president's desk and did him without a coat. When the picture was delivered to the club members were shocked by the informality of it, and chucked it in a storeroom. Since that time it has been missing.

Give Mother Day Off For Recreation

BY ANGELO PATRI

Mother's work is taken too much for granted. The members of the family who leave the house to go to work come home weary and ready to rest. The close of the day seems to them a respite from labor. They take their slippers and ease with book or game in the conscious righteousness that comes of knowing a day's work well done.

But Mother? She is still on duty. Aside from the fact that she has been taking care of the baby all day, doing the marketing, the cooking, the cleaning and mending, she is expected to make home pleasant for the day-enders.

Much of it cannot be helped, perhaps. The modern machinery does lighten the labor, but it does not ease the strain that year-long terms of service impose upon mothers. The only way out is for Mother to take her day off no matter what comes or goes.

This requires some management and self control on Mother's part. She will have to arrange the household machinery so that it can go without her for an afternoon each week, or a whole day, if that can be worked. This time off is the promise of salvation to the working mother.

When you look at something steadily and intently for any length of time you lose sight of it altogether. You have no perspective on it, you get it out of proportion. One must never stay too close to the object of his life work lest he become insensible to it and so spoil it. That is the danger many mothers run daily.

"How can I get away?" This child needs to be watched every minute of the day. He's into everything. Leave him alone for five minutes and he will do more mischief than can be repaired in five years. I don't know what I'm going to do with him. He has me about frantic most of the time.

It is not the child that is all wrong. Because she has stayed too close to him, been too much with him, without relief, without rest and recreation, she has lost all perspective and thinks he is a bad child.

Let this mother go out for the day and forget all about this child. Go to an art gallery, to a concert, have a game of golf, a ride, a drive, a trip into the suburbs, a visit with an old friend—whatever relief her heart desires, and when she returns this child will be all that is lovely and cherishable.

How is that to be done? Any mother who wants to find a way can do so. One can always do what one wants to do in such matters by a little adjusting here and there. Train grandmother, or auntie, or grandpa, or uncle, or old servant, or old friend, somebody to be trusted, so he can take that child in charge for the day. Do not worry about what will happen to him that day. Children can stand a lot of experience one way and another. They enjoy meeting new people, finding new ways, doing new things. The day off will benefit the child as well as the mother. For the mother it is essential.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I all depends on that Redding guy," the policeman answered Corrinne's question as to what the next step in the shooting of Sybil Lester would be. "If he tried to knock the girl off and tells about it, you're free. But if he denies it or pins it on you, then you're up for murder."

"Couldn't I fasten it on him?"

"Sure. Go ahead. It will make a nice case of word-tag."

"Death tag," Corrinne corrected. "Whoever gets caught goes to the chair. I wouldn't want to be a better name. The corner will be especially wired for the purpose."

Her eyes roamed to the window. "It's getting night."

As she said the last words a lump crept into her throat and although she would have suffered many things rather than let the policeman see them, tears swam before her eyes.

Night. Loneliness. Jail. She was glad when Jack came back.

Redding is getting all right, Corrinne. And he swears that Sybil tried to shoot him. There was a hat and the gun went off. The fingerprints prove it. I guess you're clear of it all now. Sybil's coming to her wounds weren't as bad as they thought. She does not know that you were there at all. When the police hear her statement . . . and see that you aren't involved . . . you'll be out of it."

"But the gun?" Corrinne asked. "I've got the word of the bank that your father turned it in. I had a few bad minutes, though. I was afraid that they hadn't made a record of it. And in that case . . ."

Corrinne nodded. "Then things are breaking for us, after all. Does Sue know about any . . . of this?"

"No. By Jove, it's nearly seven! And I was to see her at four o'clock!"

"Then call her right away, Jack, and have her come down. And Jack, tell her why you had Barbara along last night."

"Why I had Barbara along?" His face was boyishly puzzled. "Oh, jumping Jupiter, Corrinne, did she think that it was because I wanted to spend an hour with that sawdust doll? I wanted to find out what time Sybil came to that party, and you know how Barbara can hint . . . there wasn't anything to do but take her to dinner. I found out that Barbara happened to know that Sybil had seen a little bit of Redding now and then, too. Some of the dope I collected came in handy when I confronted Redding."

"Then tell Sue, hurry, Jack."

While he sat in a corner of the room at the police station, where she had been asked to wait, Corrinne reviewed the events of the last day or two. Redding had confessed that she and Sybil had pulled off the series of thefts. Sybil had been using this as a means of getting even with Sue and Jack because Jack had not returned her love . . . if such a queer, distorted passion could be called love.

Redding had been an accomplice, waiting for the money he would receive. Then the two had quarreled and the confession followed, after Jack had unearthed enough evidence to confront the pair.

The next chapter was more painful. On a lonely road she had found the stolen taxicab which she herself had been hired to drive. She had battled with Redding who had had a hemorrhage. The police and Jack had come along and found Sybil, inside the cab, suffering from a gun wound.

"If they know that that was my cab they may say that we were framing Sybil and Redding all the time and I brought them out there!"

She gave a startled gasp as a voice carried to her, beyond the partially opened door.

EYE MAKE-UP IS IMPORTANT THIS SEASON

BY ALICIA HART

Since eyes have come out into the open and must look out for themselves, what with hats perched back on necks and so on, there has been a flood of new eye aids appearing on the market.

Certainly you must be adept to use some of them and not have them show. And this year chic make-up is not too apparent.

Eye shadows can do a lot for you, if you put them on right.

Before we go into color, I want to make sure that you are getting that dewy softness around your eyes that you deserve. It comes from never overworking the lids, always using just a touch of saline on the lids instead. And right here, in this saline touch, comes help for you all in colorful array.

If you have blue eyes, you can use blue eye paste, or saline, to advantage in the day time. In the evening you may want to use green, depending on what color of powder you are wearing and what kind of dress you have.

If you are hazel eyed, or even if you have light brown eyes, this same blue saline is a blessing. It looks almost navy blue when you see it in its little box. But put it thinly, it merely darkens the lids slightly and thereby brings out the eyes tremendously, giving them a real importance.

If you have dark, burning eyes, there is a purple paste or saline for you that tones up and softens the lids so that your eyes are twice as important. You use this daytime and evenings, regardless of your change of powder and rouge. But not too much.

If none of these categories seem to fit your special brand of lovely eyes, there are some soft violet-gray eye-lid pastes and some that are bluish-green, comprising in a flatteringly way for many shades of eyes. You can dab on a little and see which seems to be yours. Experiment is the only way of being sure.

Don't overdo this coloring of lids. Emphasize that because when you

Slimming Mode

BY ANNEKILLE WORTHINGTON

A charming example of the result of a dress with slimming points, especially thought out for the mature figure.

For instance, the cross-over bodice with its cross-over vestee, and vertical, side-front closing are most helpful features to conceal breadth.

The skirt is slightly circular and joins the long-waisted bodice. The removable belt may be placed at the most becoming point to wear.

This smart print combined the season's two most important colors in gray ground overlaid in navy. The vest chosen the gray tone—the buttons the navy blue.

Style No. 3026 may be had in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1/2 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Plain navy blue crepe silk with white vest and a lined wool jersey in monotone blue mixture are stunning in this model.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Virginia Vane: I am engaged to marry a boy I love more than anything else in the world. I have always trusted him. The other night he didn't show up for a date with me. I sat at home fuming and then my girl chum came over to see me and we strolled downtown. As we were passing a movie theater my future husband came out with a girl whom I didn't know. Well, to make a long story short, he has since apologized and asked for forgiveness. He said that if I wouldn't forgive him he'd drink and go out with the kind of girls I hate. So I forgave him and now wonder whether I did right. Should I be more independent? Is it necessary to be independent when one is really in love?

It isn't necessary to be independent, just for sheer love of being high-and-mighty. But it is necessary to protect yourself from being treated inconsiderably by a man who is going to have to live with you all the rest of his life.

You might have forgiven him if he'd offered a logical explanation and perhaps confessed to a weakness for the other girl. But there is no reason why you should have offered him complete forgiveness when his attitude in asking for it, was entirely wrong.

The right sort of boy doesn't threaten to drink and run wild if the girl he loves refuses to forgive him. That sort of threat doesn't show much character. It shows a rather unpleasant streak in his make-up.

Instead of admitting that you had every right in the world to be hurt and angry he practically told you either to snap out of it, or to have the pleasure of watching him go to the dogs. Doesn't sound like good matrimonial material. And for that reason I'd advise you to try a little independence on him, just to see how he stands up under it.

Don't make it too apparent that you're dying to believe in him. Let him prove to you that he really loves you. If you don't adopt this attitude, you may find yourself one day a nice submissive little wife who isn't treated as a real personality at all—but who is more or less of a willing slave to her domineering lord and master.

Don't cut that sort of future out for yourself.

BROWN TWINS: The girl of seventeen, V, should wait a long while before deciding definitely to marry the boy whose past is so black as to cause his employer to question his integrity. V. is young and can afford to wait until the young man has proved himself. It would be folly for her, to tie herself up right now to a man who hasn't yet done this. Consequently, she must see other boys and make the most of what youthful pleasures come her way.

The girl of sixteen shouldn't for one minute allow her man's family to interfere with her feeling for him. Whatever members of his family have done, he himself appears to be the right sort, and R should remember this when she is making her decisions.

R. is of course at the moment too young to consider marriage and she is very wise to make every effort for a college education. But it would not be right for her to go to the half-sister whose existence has been treated as a secret by the rest of the family. If all else fails she ought to take high-school courses, to help her toward the education she needs.

VIOLET, M. V. I should be glad to help you in any way but a meeting could not now be arranged. Will you send me a stamped self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. Your address on your letter is not sufficient. I should be very glad to hear your story and to do whatever I can to help.

BETTY: The whole situation is more or less your fault so you can afford to be generous. By all means apologize.

POLITICAL FOES OF "NICK" HIS FRIENDS OUTSIDE OF CHAMBER

house lobby, as with the titled European he would welcome to his home in flawless French. The evenness of his temper was traditional. So was his capacity for fraternal good will in politics.

Not long ago the music magazine, "Rude" asked the speaker, in a symposium, what composition he would choose to hear, if he could, when he was dying. Longworth chose Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. He was an accomplished violinist and a pianist.

Newspapermen were the speaker's friends and he was theirs. Through his ever open door they passed singly and in groups, confident he would answer their questions directly or explain why not. On him they depended, often for implied "steers" that served in predicting dubious outcomes of controversies.

The success of Longworth's leadership, lay in his ability to sense the temper of the membership.

Relied On Own Views

The speaker somehow knew. Far from letting his own decisions wait upon the trend, he formed his opinions on legislation, and made every effort to put them through. It was said, in fact, that upon the power in Longworth's capacity for holding his hands and waiting until the rank and file came to his position rested many a solid Republican vote.

He was by native political philosophy a regular Republican. But his spectacular defection on the veterans' loan bill only last session was a demonstration that his party loyalty was not abject.

One of the narrowest escapes "Nick" ever had was in the last election. He was reported to have said that a house-to-house canvass was made against him, to warn veterans of his hostility—though he voted for the bonus.

Then came the new loans proposal. After he had announced his support, and another administration blast was threatened, newsmen went and asked him if he might be swayed.

"I don't think anything," replied Longworth, "could make me change my position."

The loan bill passed over the president's veto.

In many touchy incidents did Longworth as speaker preserve the proprieties. A gift for phrases served him well.

He held a universal reputation for fairness and consideration. It was in his regular business of presiding, in fact, that he won widest recognition as a bulwark of support for the rights of the minority.

The story is told that his friend, Garner of Texas, once in a jovial mood suggested that, though he was Longworth's friend, he would, of course, break the speaker's nose politically when opportunity offered.

"Why," Longworth's retort went, in the story, "where is your patriotism?"

It is an old story, now, that Longworth and the Texan became friends when they were the newest members on their sides of the foreign affairs committee. When Garner tells of it, he says that at the time he "had never heard of any foreign country besides Europe," and that Longworth was little more interested. This, of course, was the day Longworth was a "boy representative."

For all his frankly elegant tastes, "Nick" kept his office comparatively simple. On its walls hung half a dozen honorary degrees which universities had conferred upon him. He was proud of them. So was he of the resolution of his state's legislature adopted congratulating him upon his election as speaker. It was framed on the wall. Beside the great fireplace stood a silk flag, the gift of an auxiliary of the G. A. R. Literally scores of guests, plain and fancy, he kept out of sight.

Neenah—The fire department was summoned at 3:20 Wednesday afternoon to the Fred Thiem farm on the lakeshore south of the city limits where a blaze had started in the E. E. Jandrey Dry Goods company truck. The truck was badly damaged from the flames, which started from a crossed wire. The fire was discovered by the driver Dallas Patterson, who drove the truck into the Thiem yard and summoned the department.

MANY AT SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA CONCERT

Neenah—The concert given Wednesday evening by the Fox River Valley Symphony orchestra at the high school auditorium was well attended. The organization was brought here through efforts of the high school band. The orchestra numbers more than 60 musicians selected from among the best in the valley, under the direction of Philip LaFey. The program was a well semi-classic one. Several Neenah and Menasha musicians are members of the orchestra. A soprano soloist was on the program.

ROTARY CHAIRMAN PLAN CONFERENCE PROGRAM

The conference banquet will be held on the evening of May 4 at North Shore country club.

LOVE CULT BELIEVED INVOLVED IN DEATH OF WEALTHY WOMAN

Suspect Questioned by Detectives in Minnie Dilley Slaying

Pittsburgh—A frail little woman sat in a cell in the county jail here today waiting for detectives to ask her further questions concerning a "love cult" composed of former school teachers and the slaying of Miss Minnie E. Dilley, 76, who was found dead at Forty Fort, near Wilkesbarre, Pa., last week.

Mrs. Frances Thompson, 29, former Pittsburgh teacher, daughter of a former minister, was arrested last night and detectives said she told them the Forty Fort slaying was her husband to become head of a "love cult," but insisted she knew nothing of the slaying.

Mrs. Thompson at one time was a neighbor of Miss Dilley in Forty Fort and investigators said she had written the aged woman letter in which she accused Miss Dilley of having "a strange influence" over her husband.

The husband, Carl Thompson, 31, was arrested a short time before Mrs. Thompson was taken into custody. Later he was released. Thompson said his wife had been away from home from Wednesday of last week until Saturday, but that he did not know where she had been.

Detectives said they were not satisfied with Mrs. Thompson's description of her movements during that time. She said she had just "traveled around."

Luzerne co. authorities came here last night and prepared to remove Mrs. Thompson to Wilkesbarre, probably later today.

Miss Dilley was found dead in her home. Her head was crushed and her throat slashed. Investigators expressed the belief she had been dead several days when the body was found.

Four years ago, the Thompsons rented a house from Miss Dilley, reputed eccentric and wealthy. Mrs. Thompson had been writing to Miss Dilley at intervals for four years, detectives said. Mrs. Thompson said they had been on "good terms."

CAR IS DERAILED IN NORTHWESTERN YARDS

A defective rail is believed to cause the derailment of a freight car in the Chicago and Northwestern railroad yards Wednesday noon, according to W. B. Basins, agent. The car was restored to the rails with a steel block.

It Is Said--

That the first Martin, a bird which ordinarily does not appear in this vicinity until about May 1, was seen early Tuesday evening by Ray Schultz and Chris Deltgen on W. Wisconsin-ave. The appearance of the bird led Mr. Schultz to set up his martin houses, and he expects a colony will occupy the houses within the next few days.

That there is considerable difference between the things a candidate will say before election and after he is elected. A member of the council was gently reminded Wednesday night, when he argued against appropriation of $250 for convention decorations on the grounds that the city could not afford it that the day before election he had stated that the city was in a remarkably good financial situation.

That for the first time all winter a council meeting ended at 8:30. Some say it was because it was an adjourned meeting, and there was little business on the table. . . . some say it was because both Alderman Vanderheyden and Alderman Steinhauser were absent.

ANNUAL CLEANUP SET FOR MAY 4 TO 7

Street Department Trucks to Gather Rubbish Throughout City

Appleton's annual cleanup week will be held May 4 to 7, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., announced Wednesday morning. Street department trucks will canvass the city, collecting the winter's accumulation of old tin cans, bottles, boxes, white elephants and other junk.

Residents are advised to relieve the basement of its collection of useless boxes, barrels, crates, excelsior and other packing materials, the attic of its broken furniture, playthings, papers, and magazines, the closets of rags, old clothes or hats, newspapers and other rubbish, and the shed or garage of oily rags, paint cans, floor mops or used paint cans.

Rubbish is unsightly and unhealthful, and the destroyer of civic pride, Mayor Goodland pointed out this morning. For this reason, the city plans several rubbish collections during the coming year, the May one being the most important as it must collect the accumulation of an entire winter.

MUST ELECT SEVEN JUDGES IN 7 YEARS

Condition Caused by Law Prohibiting More Than One Election a Year

Madison—(P)—Because the statutes prohibit the election of more than one supreme court justice in any one year, Wisconsin voters will re-enact yesterday's election annually for the next seven years.

A bill now in the legislature, however, would change the law so as to permit the election of two justices to fill out unexpired terms in addition to the election of a justice for a full term.

Justice Chester Fowler, who ran in the supreme court election yesterday was a candidate in 1930 to fill out the unexpired term of the late Chief Justice Aad Vinje. His candidacy this year was for a full 10-year term.

Justice Oscar Fritz, Milwaukee, will be the next member of the court whose seat becomes vacant. Appointed to succeed Justice Christian Doerflinger, resigned, Justice Fritz must be elected to fill out the unexpired term of his predecessor in April, 1932.

In the 1932 spring election, Justice John D. Wickham, Madison, will be a candidate for a full term if he chooses to run. Justice Wickham was appointed to succeed the late Justice Charles H. Crownhart, whose term would have expired Jan. 1, 1934. Justice Fritz must be a candidate for a full term in the 1934 spring election.

In the following year, Justice George B. Nelson, Stevens Point, will, under the statutes, be forced to stand for election for a full term. He succeeded the late Justice E. Ray Stevens, Madison, whose term would have expired Jan. 1, 1934. Justice Edward Fairchild, Milwaukee, will be a candidate in the spring election of 1935 to fill out the nine months that will then remain of the term of his predecessor, the late Justice Franz C. Eschweiler, for a full term.

Justice Walter Owen, Superior, must stand for re-election to a full term in April, 1937. His new term would commence Jan. 1, 1938. Chief Justice Marvin Rosenberry must be a candidate in 1939.

National League Baseball Clubs Have Poor Spring Record

FAIL TO SHOW MUCH POWER IN RECENT GAMES

Bonie Bush's White Sox Copped Six Out of Seven in Last Week

NEW YORK — (AP) — Someone with an analytical bent will please step forward and explain the comparatively weak showing of the National League clubs in the spring exhibition circuit.

For, with the complete returns almost in, the senior organization has failed to compile anything like the winning record credited to teams of the American league. This despite the fact that the National as a whole, was supposed to be more strongly balanced from top to bottom.

Not only did the American take a commanding lead over its rival circuit in the inter-league argument during the past week, but it has posted a far more impressive record against all competition since the exhibition grind began.

Without any help from the champion Philadelphia Athletics, the National in 27 out of 49 direct engagements. Only one National league team, St. Louis, has done better than break even.

Even more impressive, perhaps, is the fact that the American league, in all games, has turned in 103 victories to 59 defeats, while the National barely has shown a profit, winning 84 and dropping 79. Four National leaguers haven't been able to reach a .500 average, even while playing in the outlying districts.

Sox Wallop Giants

Bonie Bush's Chicago White Sox supplied the largest margin in the past week, winning six out of their seven engagements, including three straight over the Giants to square their extended feud at six victories apiece. The Yankees, with five wins out of six stars; the St. Louis Browns, with four out of five, and Washington, with four wins, one tie and a loss, were others to enjoy prosperity. The Giants ran into the roughest going, losing all four of their bouts.

The standing in the seasonal struggle between the National and American leagues follows:

STATE LEAGUE WILL BE COMPOSED OF 6 TEAMS

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — Wisconsin State league officials were definitely launched today on the 1931 season with the announcement that the Racine Belles, 1930 pennant winners, were granted a franchise in the league at a final organization meeting here.

Six teams will comprise the circuit instead of eight as in former years. Kenosha and the Kosky Reds of Milwaukee have dropped membership in the organization.

Robert Ungertfeld was elected a league director as a representative of the Racine club. Strict enforcement of the rule requiring each team to have at least five rookies in the league was also voted. The league officials also voted that players who have never played in class A or higher leagues.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

AST year Rockne sent Tim Moynihan to scout Drake. As Rockne used to tell the story himself, Tim was a little tardy in arriving at the scene of the game, and learned upon arriving that Drake had played the game the night before. Tim was chastened, expecting to be fired when he got back to Notre Dame. But Rockne merely grinned at Tim's lugubrious face when he returned to report. He had failed to scout the game of his own team. Rockne took an envelope and dumped a bunch of charts and notes on the table. "Dear Rock, I understand your scout got his dates mixed up and did not see our game," said Tim. "We are sorry for a short pass. . . . We are sending you diagrams of our game and pass." The letter was signed by Ossie Solem, coach of Drake.

Training Camp Notes

ASHEVILLE, N. C. — (AP) — If sheer concentration can win the American league pennant, Tony Lazzeri ought to bring the flag to the New York Yankees, for he certainly does think about it. Tony and Charley Ruffing were walking along the street here gazing at store windows.

"I like to window shop, don't you?" asked Ruffing.

"We'll win it," replied Lazzeri, "if we get the pitching."

Macon, Ga. — (AP) — Uncle Robby is puzzled. After spending most of the spring deciding which of the players on his squad he wanted to keep, he sent the surplus to Hartford, Brooklyn's eastern league farm. Then the youngsters turned around and beat the Robbies twice in four games and now he's not sure his decisions were right. After Earl Mattingly held the big league sluggers to two hits yesterday, the Brooklyn manager said he probably would take him back with the Robbies.

Greenville, S. C. — (AP) — The ex-third baseman, Freddy Lindstrom, has become a quite successful right fielder for the New York Giants but in one respect he does not measure up to his predecessor, Mel Ott. Lindy has not learned to tell from the crack of the bat when a hit will be a long one and to turn his back and run to get under it. He keeps his eye on the ball and trails it until he gets where it is going to land but it occasionally costs him a catch he might make by the other method and makes more catches look hard.

Philadelphia — (AP) — Hal Lee, outfielder, an Ace Elliott, pitcher, plus a couple of other fellows are largely responsible for the Phillies' defeat of the Athletics in the annual city series. The Phils won yesterday, 6 to 2, making the series games 3 to 1 in their favor. The final game is to be played tomorrow.

Lee came to the Phillies in a trade after warming the Brooklyn bench most of the last season. He has been a consistent hitter thus far, getting his second home run in yesterday's tilt, with Lefty Grove on the peak. Elliott turned in his second series victory, holding the world champions to seven hits.

Washington — (AP) — The Senators' second and last exhibition game with a major league opponent is on tap today.

"General" Alvin Crowder will take the mound against the Philadelphia Nationals. His hope is that he will be steadier than he was toward the close of the game he pitched against the Birmingham Barons, last week. The Senators intend to see if they can keep up, the slugging that brought them 13 hits and an 8-5 victory yesterday over the Boston Braves.

Memphis, Tenn. — (AP) — Outfielder Ernie Ott, in the past never regarded as a slugger, seems to have discovered the knack of putting 'em out of the park. Ott, who was given the left field job with the St. Louis Cardinals when Chick Hafey, the team's chief slugger, decided he did not want to play for what Sam Breadon wanted to pay, has put one out of the park in each of the last two exhibition games. The rest of the Cards also appear to have recovered from a severe batting slump, which worried Manager Gabby Street for several days.

Again! Helene Breaks a Record

Chicago — (AP) — Heigh ho! Helene Madison, 17-year-old Seattle, Wash., swimmer, has lowered another record.

Resuming her campaign to gather up all women's records, the Seattle star last night trimmed one and three-tenths seconds from the 75-yard free style mark of 45.1, established in 1925 by Ethel Lackie.

The accomplishment gave her possession of 14 out of sixteen records.

Washington, New York To Push A's In A. L. Race

BY JOHN R. FOSTER
Copyright, 1931

NEW YORK — (CFA) — The American league race for 1931 will be seven teams against the Philadelphia Athletics. That condition is true every year as regards the combined efforts on the part of the other clubs to defeat the champions of the previous year but it is emphasized this season because the Athletics, have an underlying belief that Philadelphia will have a hard scramble to win the pennant again.

Not each team believes it has a championship team, but all of them are sure they have good teams, and every one of them is ready with a brief for the A's. That condition makes the Athletics' hand fight of the Athletics this year a tougher task than it was last.

Washington is rated as the principal competitor of Philadelphia. This opinion is based on sound judgment. The Washington team is a smooth, steady, well balanced collection of ball players.

Although it permitted Ruel to go to the Boston Americans its catchers and the team is bringing on a new one who will be one of the best batters of the American league. His name is Bolton, a powerful, vigorous man, somewhat awkward behind the bat, but improving fast.

The second team most often named to win from the Athletics is New York. The presence of so many splendid batters gives New York great prestige as a run making outfit. Its attack is valued as its strongest feature. If it falters a little in pitching or fielding it is presumed to have enough strength to overcome that. But if it falters in pitching or fielding it is presumed to have enough strength to overcome that. But if it falters in pitching or fielding it is presumed to have enough strength to overcome that.

CALL FIRST DRILL FOR VALLEY LEAGUERS

Fords Workout at Brandt Park Sunday, Manager Smith Says

The first practice session for Augie Brandt's Fords, Appleton's contribution to the Fox River Valley Baseball league, will be held Sunday afternoon at Brandt park, according to Manager Len Smith. The practice of course hinges on weather conditions.

Although indications are that the Fords will show pretty much the same team that finished last season, Manager Smith is inviting all ambitious baseball talent to come out and see what it can do. The club will play several practice games before the league race opens on May 10, and everyone who shows signs of being a ball player will bet a chance to perform.

The practice tilts while not completed probably will be with Waupaca entry in the Wolf river valley loop or with Clintonville. Two games will be arranged if possible, one on the other team's grounds and one in Appleton.

Arthur "Lefty" Behr will again hurl for the Fords and his southpaw slants will be caught by Leo Murphy, the veteran paddler. "Baldy" Eggert again is to try for the first base berth, Sonny Tornow will seek to nail down a job at second base and Mulry probably will cavort at short. Other veterans expected out are Cully Schultz, Dats Crowe, Arnie Hillman and Manager Smith. Rumor has it that Joe Shields may again try baseball and in that event will seek an infield position.

TOMMY, SHARKEY TO MEET AGAIN JUNE 23

Bout Will Be Held at Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia

Philadelphia — (AP) — Fried and Fishman, Philadelphia promoters, announced today that Tommy Loughran, former world's light heavyweight champion, had accepted their terms to meet Jack Sharkey in a 10-round bout at the Municipal stadium here on June 23.

Maurice Fishman, secretary-treasurer of the Arena corporation, plans to go to Boston tonight to confer with Jack Sharkey and his manager, Johnny Buckley, concerning the proposed bout. He said Joe Smith, manager of Loughran, had accepted his offer by telephone from New York and that he was prepared to give Sharkey a "substantial" guarantee.

He quoted Smith as saying that Loughran was anxious for another bout with the Boston job and that he favored the Stadium as the site.

The Municipal stadium, scene of the first Dempsey-Tunney championship battle, accommodates more than 100,000 persons.

GEORGE DUNLAP WINS FIRST AMATEUR ROUND

Pinehurst, N. C. — (AP) — George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, whose 35-hole 145 won the medal by a ten-stroke margin, encountered H. A. Tryon, Elmira, N. Y. shot-maker, today in the second round of the North and South amateur golf tournament.

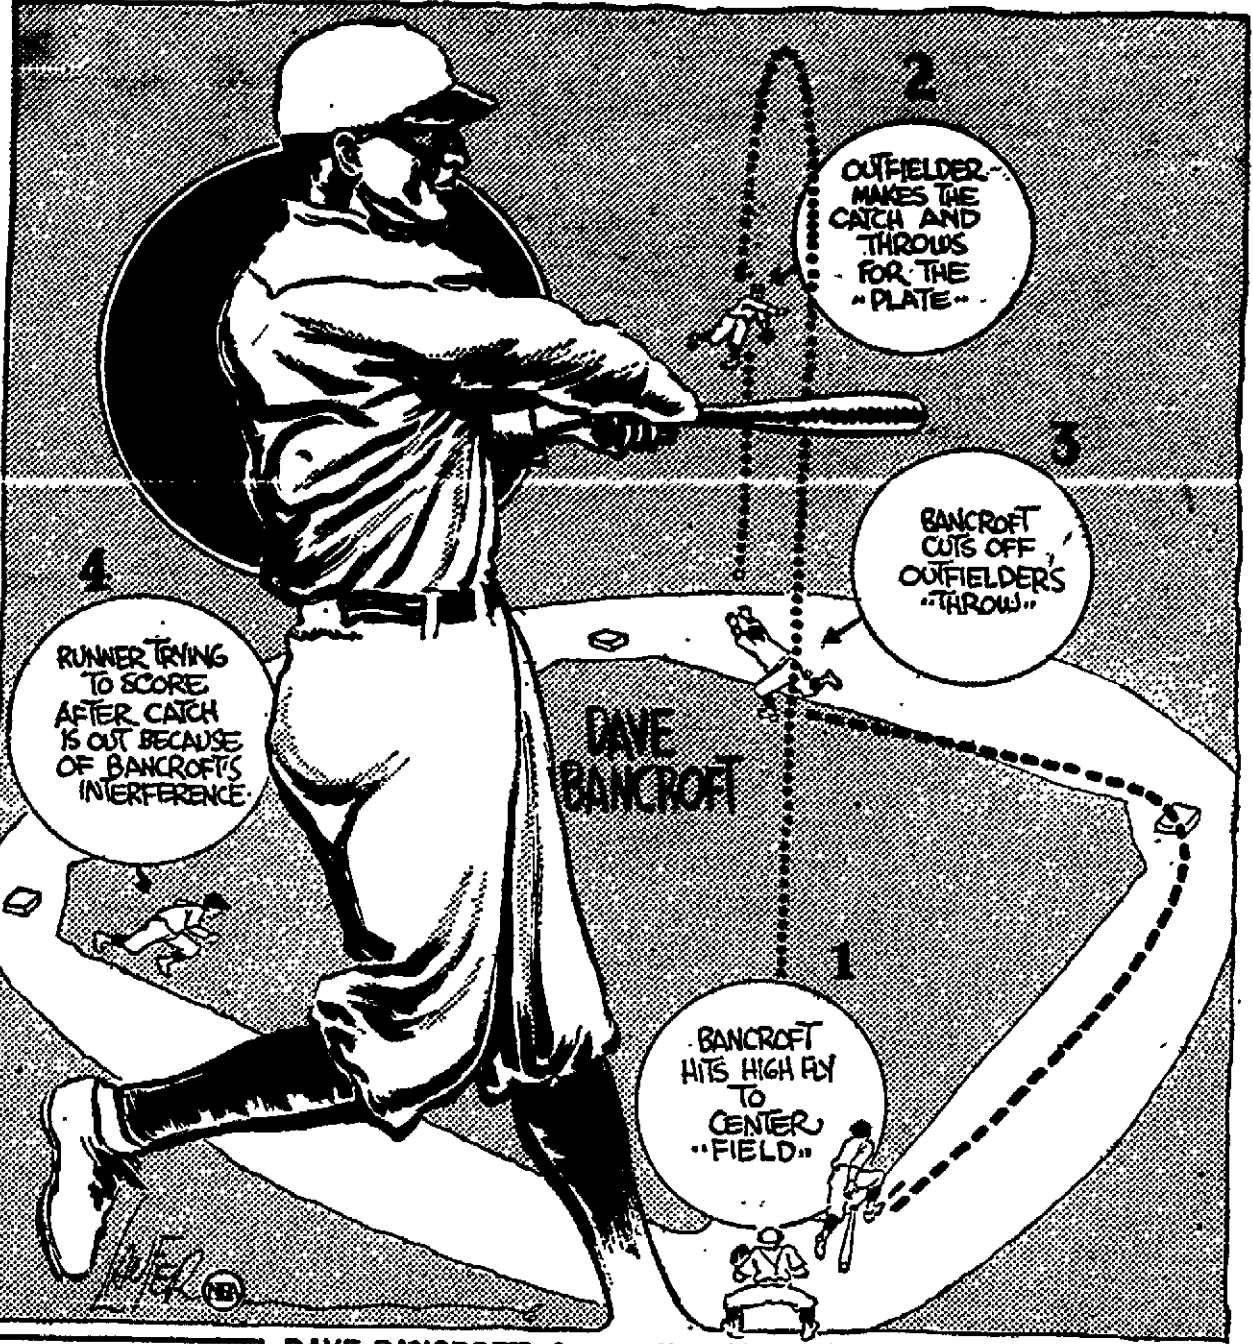

Playing under the colors of Princeton, Dunlap, intercollegiate champion, called through the first round yesterday with a 6 and 5 victory over H. J. Blue, of Pinehurst.

Tryon advanced by trimming R. A. Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, three and two.

Eugene Homans, Englewood, N. J., defending champion, ousted P. R. Ellis, Bridgeport, Conn., four and three.

Cedar Rapids, Ia. — Eddie Anderson, Chicago, outpointed Joe Rivers, Cedar Rapids, Ia., (10); Young Gene, La Salle, Ill., knocked out Billy Knowles, Chicago (3).

BRUSHING UP SPORTS ... By Laufer

BASEBALL'S BIGGEST BONERS

DAVE BANKROFT, former New York Giants' shortstop, has always been noted for brains. But absent-mindedness one day made him a member of the bonehead club. With a runner on third and one out, Dave hit a long fly to center and was near second when the ball was caught. The outfielder whipped in the ball trying to catch the runner dashing in from third. Dave, thinking he had made the third out, ran over and, bare-handed, cut off the throw and ran to his position. "The umpire checked and double-checked Dave's boner by calling the third out because of his interference."

Rock Often Warned Men They Were Heroes While Winning, Dubs In Defeat

BY LOREN DISNEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

LL — AMERICA reputations and selections meant little to Knute Rockne, despite the fact that more Notre Dame players were picked for such honors in the last decade than those from any other school.

Rockne's feeling doubtless was caused by his realization that football after all, was only a game. At any rate, he never ceased to warn his boys that they were heroes while winning, but quickly were forgotten when the shouting died.

Always the dominant figure, Rockne created in his players this same lack of awe in a great reputation—their own or those of opposing players. He had innumerable ways of deflating the ego of a Notre Dame star.

Mostly he used the barb of wit, because it was his theory that the point of a wisecrack sunk much deeper than a serious talk.

A large share of Notre Dame's success of the gridiron undoubtedly can be traced to this utter lack of fear of opposing stars.

Back in 1924, for instance, when the "Four Horsemen" beat a great Army team, the attack was centered especially on Garbisch, the Army All-American center. With such remarks as "Surely that can't be the great Mr. Garbisch" as they ploughed through center, the "Horsemen" did nothing to improve the All-American's temper, and found a vulnerable spot where Army thought itself strongest.

And it was inevitable that observers should turn to those rhythmic Notre Dame teams when All-America time rolled around. Their records made it mandatory, and as many stars as were picked, there are coaches throughout the country who have seen their teams wrecked by Notre Dame players obscured by the system.

As an example, many close observers think that Tom Conley of the 1930 team was the finest of the lot, though little was heard of him throughout the season.

Notre Dame teams under Rockne first drew All-America attention in 1920, just two years after Rockne, an instructor in chemistry, succeeded Jess Harper as head coach.

Walter Camp named George Gipp fullback on his first team of that year. Gipp, who died shortly after the end of the season, a dashing, romantic figure, doubtless was the greatest individual ever to play on a Notre Dame team.

Rockne probably considered Gipp the greatest player he had ever coached, though strangely enough, in selecting an All-Time backfield last season, Rockne left Gipp's name off.

Nine Notre Dame team players in all were selected for the All-America first team during Rockne's reign, taking in Camp's selection and the Associated Press consensus. Here's the honor roll:

George Gipp, fullback, 1920.
Harry Stuhldreher, quarterback, 1924.
Arthur Goerger, center, 1926.
John Smith, guard, 1927.
Frank Carideo, quarterback, 1929.
Jack Cannon, guard 1929.
Frank Carideo, quarterback, 1930.
Bert Metzger, guard, 1930.
Marchmont Schwartz, halfback, 1930.

As extensive as the list is, leading as it does all colleges for the period, it is obvious that some of the best football players of time were omitted.

No Tackle Or Ends

There are no tackles and no ends, and only one halfback on the first eleven. This perhaps is due in part to the fact that Notre Dame guards coming out of the line to run interference drew more attention than their running mates at tackle, and to the fact that a great lot of Notre Dame end's time was taken up in unspectacular but efficient blocking and turning ends.

Picking the players to fill in these holes or to supplant some of the All-America stars for an All-Notre Dame team opens the way to an argument that not even Rockne, had he so desired, could have settled to the satisfaction of all.

There are two All-America quarterbacks, and the debate as to their respective abilities can be waged indefinitely. Rockne always declined to express an opinion. He pointed out that Stuhldreher, the leader of the "Four Horsemen" was a better passer, a brilliant tactician, whereas Carideo was a better kicker and blocker. They were strongly contrasting types, but both got brilliant results with fine support.

Gipp and Marchmont Schwartz, the 1930 climax-carrier, would fit perfectly into any backfield. However, there are a large number of candidates for a fourth selection, including Johnny Mohardt, Jim Crowley, Christy Flanagan, Jack Elder, Marty Brill, Elmer Layden and Joe Savoldi. Any would be eminently satisfactory.

Conley a Fine End

The best combination of ends undoubtedly was Anderson and Kiley, in 1921. Conley and Chuck Collins of the 1924 array were other fine winners.

Among the tackles, gigantic Ted Twomey, called "Brute" perhaps was the greatest. Culver was a star at the position last year. Coughlin in 1929, Bach in 1924 and Fred Miller in 1923 were effective tackles.

The wealth of material at guard is indicated by the three picked for All-America recognition. Brown, 1922, and Law, 1929, were just a shade less talented than the All-Americans.

Art (Bud) Boeringer, 1926, All-American, was perhaps the most finished pivot man of the Rockne era, but the most heroic of the lot was Adam Walsh, captain of the "Four Horsemen" in 1924, and a remarkable leader.

Making no choice as to quarter back, an All-Notre Dame team, representing the Rockne Era, might take the field as follows:

End—Roger Kiley, 1921, and Tom Conley, 1930.
Guard—Jack Cannon, 1929, and Bert Metzger, 1930.
Tackles—Ted Twomey, 1929, and Coughlin, 1929.
Center—Adam Walsh, 1924.
Quarterback—Frank Carideo, 1930, o Harry Stuhldreher, 1924.
Halfbacks—Marchmont Schwartz, 1930, and Johnny Mohardt, 1921.
Fullback—George Gipp, 1920.

11 FREEDOM CAGERS AWARDED LETTERS

Eleven members of the Freedom Union Free high school were awarded letters for effort on the basketball squad this winter, according to announcement made by school authorities. The boys are Schenmer, Ebben, Wallace, Vandenberg, Hermesen, McCann, J. Schouten, Kavanaugh, McCormick, R. Schouten and Verhagen. Six of the men will form the nucleus of the 1932 team.

Freedom won eight games this season and suffered defeat in five. The team scored 199 points against 135 for opponents.

BADGER NINE WINS FROM BRADLEY TECH

FOOTBALL, ILL. — (AP) — Wisconsin University's baseball team, Big Ten champions, were scheduled today to play the St. Louis University team after winning over Bradley Tech, 9 to 2, in the opening game of the spring campaign for both teams.

The Badgers took a two-run lead in the first frame and were never headed. Bradley scored in the second and third innings.

Coach Guy Lowman used three of his Cardinal hurlers, Aubrey Stoddard, a rookie, Ernie Lusby and Jackie Sommerfield, veterans, neither of whom had any difficulty. Bobby Poser was expected to do the hurling in today's game at St. Louis.

MERCHANTS HOLD PRACTICE SUNDAY

Appleton Entry in Central Wisconsin League Adds 2 Players

Appleton Merchants, local entry in the Central Wisconsin baseball league will hold their first practice at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Wilson Junior high school field, according to Manager Bedford. The C. W. League is expected to get started Sunday, May 3.

Although positions on the club are not yet filled indications are that Bedford will use practically the same combinations that start the 1930 season. The squad last year opened with seven straight wins and then coasted along only to falter near the end of the race and finish with the also rans.

Two new men are to be added to the team this season, Murphy a pitcher and Kransusch an infielder, Manager Bedford said. The additions are expected to materially strengthen the Merchants and give them enough strength to get away to a good start when the barrier is lifted.

Sports Question Box

Question—Has Tod Morgan retired? If not, how does he shape up over his last form?

Answer—Morgan is still fighting in California. He is not as good as he was but manages to hold his own against aspiring junior lightweights.

Question—Has John Does, the present national tennis champion retired from the game?

Answer—Not retired but he is working too hard to pay much attention to the game.

Question—Two strikes were on the batter and on the third strike he batted a foul tip which hit the catcher's shin guards and rebounded into his mit without touching the ground. The umpire called the batter out. Was he right?

Answer—This play has been ruled upon in different ways. Some think that the ball hit an obstruction when it hit the shin guards and that the catcher could not make a play on it. Others hold to the contrary. The decision most preferred is that the ball hit an obstruction.

32 ROUNDS OF BOXING AT OSKOSH TONIGHT

Appleton professional fight fans will take a jaunt to Oshkosh tonight where a fight card is being staged at Army B under direction of E. H. Fredrich, veteran Sawdust city promoter. Thirty-two rounds of boxing are carded, the maximum under the state law. Two windups feature the show. One bout is Johnny Lombardo vs. Bobby Calmes and Eddie Black vs. Jackie Davies.

Ernie Kath, Sheboygan blonde, who fought here in his amateur days and packs a real wallop, fights in one of the preliminary bouts.

"Y" TENNIS COURTS SOON WILL BE READY

Work repairing and cleaning up the Y. M. C. A. tennis courts was started Wednesday. The two courts were raked, several low places filled in and then rolled. The back areas also have been cleaned of grass and paper and repairing of the wire fence soon will start. The courts then will be lined and opened for use by members.

ORANGE MAY PLAY GRID GAME NOV. 11

Consider Plans for Armistice Day Battle on George A. Whiting Field

Appleton football fans may see resumption of games on Armistice day next fall with the high school team competing against some other Fox river valley club. Armistice day now is a legal holiday and high schools students will not attend classes.

Scheduling of a game Armistice day may also help Orange out of the difficulty it found itself last winter when arranging a grid card for this season. Because the Lawrence college squad will play several additional home games next year and because other valley schools have scheduled games on Armistice day the Orange was unable to get its usual share of home games, something that would have left a big deficit in athletic department coffers.

If the Armistice day game now can be arranged it probably will be with Fond du Lac, will become an annual feature of the Orange schedule and will help Orange authorities out of the financial difficulty.

Today

Cleveland—(AP)—A flip of the pen was all that was needed today to give Cleveland Iron-clad assurance of its selection as the site of the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling heavy-weight championship bout.

It was understood a contract for the rental of the Municipal stadium at a fee of $25,000 would be signed today by William Saxe, representing the Illinois Madison Square Garden corporation, and George Bender stadium manager. They worked out the details last night at a conference with city manager Daniel E. Morgan and William F. Carey of the New York Madison Square corporation.

The 15-round go will be either the night of July 8 or the afternoon of July 4. The date will be determined later and is expected to be formally announced next Wednesday at South Bend, Ind., where Schmeling is scheduled for an exhibition.

The contract as drawn provides that the promoters will pay all expenses above $12,500 in increasing the stadium's seating capacity from 80,000 to 120,000 and will split concession profits with the city.

New Book

Twenty one-act plays written by Americans and produced by Little Theaters in America in 1921 have been collected and edited by Frank Shay, dramatic critic, in his new anthology, "Twenty Contemporary One-Act Plays," one of the new books added to the Appleton high school library.

The purpose of the book as a companion piece to a former collection gathered from world playwrights, is to represent the highest level in the art theater in America. The selection Mr. Shay has made includes such well known plays as "Stuart Walker's," "Sir David Wears a Crown," "Edna St. Vincent Millay's," "Two Slatterns and a King," "Finders-Keepers," by George Kelly; "Thursday Evening," Christopher; "Horley," "Sweet and Twy," Floyd Dell; "The Dreamy Kid," Eugene O'Neill.

Two professional books for teachers are among the new books. "Education, Crime and Progress," Bagley, and "Fads and Fallacies in Present Day Education," Bucholz.

"This Believing World," Lewis Browne, is a book the content of which Mr. Browne presented in a high school lecture recently. "Soviet Russia," Chamberlain, is being used in the Interrelations classes, and "The Side Rule" is a new reference text for students in the mathematics department and the office practice class.

DRIVE THE NEW OLDSMOBILE • IT'S A GREAT ALL-ROUND PERFORMER

The new Oldsmobile is an unusually satisfactory car to drive because of its abilities in every phase of performance. It is easy to start—summer or winter. It accelerates swiftly and smoothly. And it gives you command of unusual speed—with stamina to hold it.

This finer all-round performance is the result of a number of important new Oldsmobile features. Chief among these is new down-draft carburetion . . . the source of increased power—with higher speed, faster acceleration, and greater smoothness. This feature also assures instantaneous starting, even at zero temperature. And a newly-designed crankshaft-balancer and a new carburetor-silencer give unusual smoothness and quietness of operation at all speeds.

Each of these features is important. But more important still is another new Oldsmobile feature—the famous Synchro-Mesh transmission. This transmission, heretofore found only in higher-priced cars, enables you to enjoy Oldsmobile's performance to the fullest extent. You can shift through all gears . . . from low into second and from second to high . . . quickly, easily, and silently, without fear of gear-clashing. Further, you can shift from high back to second with equal facility, and without reducing car speed. This feature is particularly desirable when driving in traffic or on steep grades.

In addition, and giving the car extra performance advantages, Oldsmobile has added to the Synchro-Mesh transmission a new Quiet Second Gear . . . assuring smooth, swift acceleration which rivals high-gear performance in quietness.

These many added features make the new Oldsmobile a great car to drive . . . fast, smooth, rugged, and powerful . . . as you will quickly discover when you take the wheel and test the car.

N. W. ROAD TO START NEW TRUCK SERVICE ON MAY 1

Rate to Be Five Cents Per Hundred Weight, With 25 Cent Minimum

The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company has issued tariffs effective May 1, publishing rates for pick-up or delivery service on less-than-carload freight in Appleton, Green Bay and other points in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Illinois. It was announced this week.

A rate of 5 cents per hundred weight is named for either pick-up or delivery service at this point, with a minimum charge of 25 cents per delivery. Weight limitations apply to pieces of freight in excess of 1,000 pounds, and exception is made also to freight dimensions exceeding 14 feet in length, six feet in height, and six feet in width, or in excess of 20 feet in length. The charge will be in addition to the regular tariff rates.

Consignees and shippers outside the city limits are expected to make application to have their industries included within the pick-up delivery limits where this service is desired. It will apply only within the corporate limits of the city except where otherwise stated, and application may be made with the company to include specific shippers outside the city.

U. S. NAVAL GUARDS BATTLE CHINESE

Supposed Nationalist Soldiers Silenced by American Gun-fire

Ichang, China.—(P)—A battle between a handful of American naval guards aboard the Yangtze river steamer Iping and a considerable body of troops, supposedly Chinese Nationalist soldiers, took place near here early today. The Chinese soldiers opened fire on the ship but were silenced by the American guns. The Chinese poured sharp fire into the Iping, which had been disabled by striking a rock in the Yangtze rapids and was limping into Ichang for repairs. The engagement was severe but short, the American fire proving too effective for the Chinese. The attack was made supposedly by Chinese Nationalist soldiers stationed above Ichang to prevent the entry of Communists into this city. Having heard Chinese soldiers were searching ships approaching Ichang, the Iping's captain slowed down the ship, expecting a boarding party to approach and look for reds. Instead, the ship's officers said, the soldiers attacked the Iping without explanation, forcing the American guards to fire.

"Now, have you ever dreamt of a hundred foot, thirty-five crew, twin screw engine, private yacht?"

Leo Bradley, first class seaman, U. S. N., was wounded in the leg and two Chinese aboard the ship were gravely wounded. The Iping managed to escape down the river after the gunfire from her decks had afforded an opportunity.

TAKE SAMPLES OF WATER FROM THIRTY MORE RURAL SCHOOLS

Samples of well water are being secured this week from 30 more of the county's rural schools to be sent to the state laboratory for tests. The samples are being secured by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, and A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Two weeks ago the county workers secured 41 samples of water and tests of 41 of these revealed that 11 of the wells are supplying impure water to the pupils. The school boards of these schools have been advised by the county nurse that the water must be boiled for 15 minutes before it can be used for drinking.

With the completion of taking samples this week the workers will have taken samples from 91 schools, leaving 49 schools which will be checked next week.

BANKING IN SCHOOLS AGAIN DECREASES

School banking dropped another point last week when only 78 per cent of the pupils deposited their pennies in the Thrift club. A total of $528.90 was banked by 2,940 pupils, bringing the balance on deposit up to $41,266.91.

Withdrawals for the week were heavy. 115 withdrawals totalling $808.72. Interest credited was $26.90.

Two schools, McKinley and Orthopedic banked 100 per cent. Amounts banked at the various schools were: McKinley, $1 depositors, $17.44; Orthopedic, 24, $2.32; Columbus, 242, $40.17; Roosevelt, 305, $83.05; Richmond, 59, $3.95; First Ward, 321, $61.50; Jefferson, 258, $36.92; Franklin, 231, $31.88; Lincoln, 92, $18.71; Washington, 328, $53.67; Fourth ward, 140, $21.81; Wilson, $30.81; Opportunity room, 11, $.68; high school, 564, $128.27.

STOP SOFT-CORN LOSSES... Get better-quality with AGRICO

Jacobson Bros., of Green Bay, Wis., grow prize-winning corn 100 miles north of the Corn Belt. Read in their letter, printed below, how they growers have overcome the losses from soft-corn.

SOFT-CORN is a source of great loss to farmers in the Northwest. Do you realize that in one Minnesota county alone 76% of all corn shipped out last year graded below No. 3? This meant a loss of $80,000 for farmers in one county alone.

There is real profit in good-quality corn. But to get high-grade corn the crop must be matured before the killing frosts come, or else the corn contains too much moisture, and it becomes light and chaffy.

The safest, surest way to stop soft-corn losses is to use enough of the right kind of fertilizer. Read this letter from Jacobson Bros., of Green Bay, Brown Co., Wisc., telling how they grow prize-winning seed-corn 100 miles above the Corn Belt:

"We used your AGRICO Fertilizers on our corn in a test for the first time against other analysis and we are well pleased with the results. Your AGRICO for Corn yielded 91 bu. per acre of well-matured corn with only 7% nubbins. The other make, analysis 2-16-2, yielded 79 bu. of corn with 12% nubbins; 16% Superphosphate yielded almost as much in total weight but the corn was quite immature and will shrink, therefore, the yield will be reduced; it had about 14% nubbins."

"We also left a plot in our field without any fertilizer which yielded 78 bu. of corn which was quite immature and contained about 20% nubbins. Only about 35% of this corn could be considered mature."

"In 1927 the season was very backward for corn growing, but in spite of this, our corn grown with 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers yielded 100 bu. per acre and was well matured which enabled us to dispose of a large quantity of corn for seed purposes. We are glad to say that we have won first prizes on both 10-ear and 50-ear samples of Golden Glow corn at the Wisconsin State Fair at Milwaukee." Jacobson Brothers, Green Bay, Wisc.

Protect yourself against soft-corn losses by using AGRICO for Corn, the world's premier fertilizer, under your crop this season. AGRICO contains carefully-selected plant-foods, balanced to give corn a quick, early start and hastens the maturity one to three weeks and beats frost thereby saving farmers losses due to "soft" corn.

Order your AGRICO now from your nearest dealer; see list below. Don't wait till next year—act now, and stop those soft-corn losses this year. The AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL Co., 615 Drake Street, St. Paul, Minn.

TREASURIES OF BRAZIL FACING CRITICAL TIME

Interest, Sinking Fund Payments Due in Next 60 to 90 Days

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE

Copyright, 1931, Fy Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CFA)—

The next sixty to ninety days will be a critical time for the government and state treasuries of Brazil and for the holders of their dollar obligations.

In this period, interest and sinking fund payments on nearly 49 percent of the entire amount of Brazilian loans floated in this country will become due. These payments will have to be met on fifteen of the thirty loans contracted in the United States in the past ten years. Five of them must be taken care of on May 1 and the same number on June 1, the latter involving more than half of the debt service in the present quarter.

The outstanding amount of bonds on which interest or sinking funds are payable between now and July 1 is approximately $163,000,000 of the total of all Brazilian loans of about $400,000,000. The debt service requirement in the months of May, June and July is estimated between $5,500,000 and $6,000,000. Judging from the fact that on the fifteen different loans affected in the present situation, there has been a depreciation of nearly $75,000,000 in market value.

Trouble Anticipated

With about half of this number of loans selling below 50 and several under 40, it is apparent that holders of them anticipate trouble for Brazil and her political divisions in obtaining funds to meet the current requirements.

After the revolution in Brazil last year, the representatives of the new government stated that they would do everything possible to maintain the sanctity of Brazilian credit. They recognized the necessity for preserving their credit status abroad in order to negotiate additional foreign loans at such a time as markets had recovered and were friendly to foreign issues. The strain on Brazil of the world-wide economic depression and a foreign debt entirely out of proportion to her normal resources has placed her in the position where it is believed by bankers here that she will be forced to ask for some concessions on the part of her creditors.

One opinion is that a part of the nearby debt service will be paid in script instead of cash. It may be necessary at the same time to default, by consent of bondholders, on sinking fund payments. Such payments have always been an embarrassment to weak government and corporation debtors and have frequently brought about trouble that might have been avoided if interest on debt had been the only obligation.

Bolivia, Peru Default

Bolivia and Peru have already defaulted on dollar loans, and the prices of their bonds quoted on the New York stock exchange have fallen to about one-third of that at which they were originally placed among American investors. Six of the Brazilian issues were quoted Wednesday at figures approximately 40 per cent of those when they were brought out in recent years. They are now in about the same average price area as were the Bolivian and Peruvian issues just prior to announcement of default. It is understood that heavy liquid-

BURKE BOUND OVER IN SLAYING OF POLICEMAN

St. Joseph, Mich.—(P)—Fred Burke, notorious gunman Wednesday was bound over for trial in the April term of the Berrien circuit court on a charge of slaying Patrolman Charles Skelly of St. Joseph in December, 1929.

Burke waived preliminary examination when taken before Justice Joseph J. Collier in a corridor of the county jail. Justice Collier directed that Burke be held without bond. Charles L. Bartlett, former Detroit recorder's judge, and Thomas S. Kennedy, another Detroit lawyer, visited Burke at the jail after the prisoner had earlier refused to see them. Burke told Bartlett to thank his (Burke's) Detroit friends for their efforts in his behalf. Soon after Burke's extradition from Missouri it was reported that Detroit friends of the gunman were raising a defense fund for him.

3,000 REDS DRIVEN FROM CAPTURED CHINESE CITY

Hankow —(P)—Three thousand reds who attacked and captured Hwangchow, 50 miles east of here, were driven from that city Wednesday. Hwangchow was reported virtually destroyed. Six thousand reds attacked Fungkou, 80 miles west of Hankow but were repulsed.

The invasion of Hwangchow was short but violent. The attackers began an orgy of looting as soon as the city fell. Government bombing planes were sent from here to dislodge the invaders. Hwangchow, situated on the north bank of the Yangtze river, is considered an important center because of its proximity to Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang, the tri-cities of central China. It had a population of 30,000 in 1924.

tion of Brazilian dollar loans has been taking place recently for European account. In nearly all of these loans offered by American bankers, a participation was given to issuing houses in London or on the continent. A specialist in foreign bonds said today that he believed that Europe had now sold back nearly all of the South American dollar bonds to which she had subscribed in the past five years. This has placed an additional weight on a market that has had difficulty in absorbing a steady stream of liquidation for the account of private investors and corporations in the United States.

It is obvious that with the losses that American investors have taken in South American securities, both in depreciated capital and in loss of income, it will be many years before it will again be possible for any great volume of loans to the defaulting countries to be successfully negotiated here.

Your Home GARDEN

BY WILLIAM R. BEATTIE
U. S. Department of Agriculture
Written especially for the Post-Crescent

About three or four years ago, when Italian or sprouting broccoli was announced as a new vegetable in this country, it made little difference to us that this newcomer had been grown and used in Italy for perhaps hundreds or even thousands of years.

BEATTIE
The plant has been welcomed as a valuable addition to our list of garden vegetables. Sprouting broccoli is a form of loose heading, green cauliflower that is much harder and easier to grow than regular cauliflower.

Two crops, a spring crop and a fall crop, can be grown in most sections, the time of planting being about the same as early and late cabbage. It is a cool weather crop and requires 130 to 150 days from the time of sowing the seed until the first of the heads are ready to use.

When To Plant

For the early spring crop the seeds should be sown indoors or in the hotbed and the plants set in the garden just a little later than early cabbage. For a late crop sow the seeds about the time you plant the seeds of late cabbage and plant in the garden at the same time as late cabbage or perhaps a week later. Good, tender sprouting broccoli can not be grown on poor soil and, like its close relative the cauliflower, it must have plenty of fertility in the soil. If the half acre home garden has had about 10 good loads of manure plowed under and a top-dressing of three or four hundred pounds of fertilizer, the soil should be about right for growing good broccoli.

Needs Plenty of Water

If the season is dry it will be desirable to give the plants a good watering about once a week. In the irrigated sections the sprouting broccoli should be irrigated the same as cabbage or cauliflower. Broccoli grows rather large, so the rows should be about three feet apart and the plants two or two and one-half feet apart in the rows. Like other new vegetables most folks have to learn how to use sprouting broccoli. First the plant forms a central head and after this is removed several smaller or side heads form. The heads should be cut when in bud and before any of the buds, open or show blossom color.

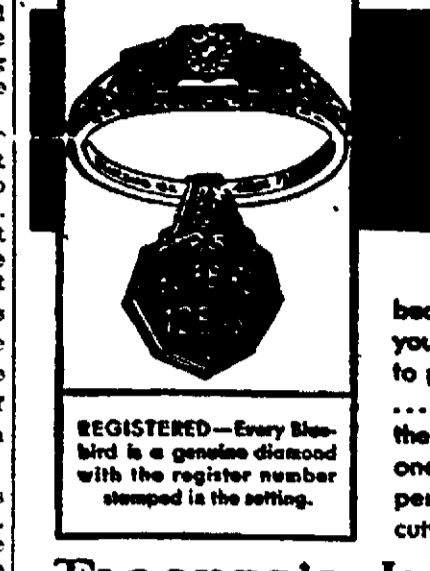

Cut off about three or four inches of the tender stems with the head, wash, peel the lower part of the stems, cut into slices lengthwise and cook for 12 to 20 minutes in just enough water to cover, adding a little salt for flavoring.

Care must be taken not to overcook or to destroy the natural color or crispness of the stems and heads. Serve sprouting broccoli with a little Hollandaise sauce or drawn butter poured over it, or just a little melted butter will do. It is also good with a little mayonnaise or with lemon juice or a touch of vinegar. The main point is to use it while it is very tender and not allow it to become too old.

PROFESSOR SAYS GANDHI IS SHREWD POLITICIAN

Madison—(P)—Mahatma Gandhi was characterized as a shrewd politician by Prof. Philo M. Buck, of the University of Wisconsin department of comparative literature, on his return here this week from a five month's journey around the world.

"Gandhi, charming as a personality and great as an idealist, is yet, in a way, one of the shrewdest politicians the world has ever known," Prof. Buck said.

The professor secured two conferences with the Indian leader. Both

Prof. Buck and Mrs. Buck and their daughter, Caroline, attended the All-Asian Women's conference at Lahore, India. Their trip across the northern Arabian desert and through the heart of India and Persia was made by automobile.

CAMELS are wrapped Only in MOISTURE-PROOF Cellophane

Cigarettes in prime condition have a moisture content of about 10%. It will be seen by the chart that cigarettes in the ordinary wrapped package lose more than half of their total moisture in thirty days and that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition.

THE whole country is talking about the throat-easy mildness and the factory freshness of Camel Cigarettes in the new Humidor Pack.

Please examine it carefully. It is an unfailing guide to cigarette selection and enjoyment.

As you can quickly see by the three upper curves on this interesting chart, cigarettes that lack the protection of the Humidor Pack lose their moisture rapidly from the day they are manufactured.

And day by day as this moisture disappears, the smoke from these cigarettes becomes harsher, hotter, more unkind to the smoker's throat.

Not so with Camels! Factory-fresh Camels are air-sealed in the new Sanitary Package which keeps the dust and germs out and keeps the flavor in.

Make these tests yourself
It is so easy to tell the difference between parched dry cigarettes and fresh prime Camels that it is no wonder everybody is reaching for a fresh cigarette today.

Your fingers identify stale, dried-out tobaccos at once. While a Camel is flexible and pliant.

Your ears can tell the difference too. For a dust-dry cigarette crackles under pressure.

But the real test is taste and there is simply no comparison between the rich mildness of a Camel and the hot, brackish smoke from a stale, dry cigarette.

Switch to Camels just for today then leave them tomorrow if you can.

$15 ALLOWED FOR ELECTION DAY WORKERS

Vote Preceded by Sharp Criticism of High Wage Scale

Kaukauna—Members of the election boards are allowed $15 for their services on election day by the city Tuesday evening by a vote of 8 to 2. Aldermen E. R. Landreman and William Carnot voted against payment of $15 because they thought the amount excessive.

After a heated discussion it was agreed that a set payment schedule should be adopted. This will be done by the privileges and elections committee of the new council, which will be organized April 21.

Under present conditions any man or woman caught at the polls to present a bill such as that of the election board for $15 for the work done on election day. Alderman Landreman said, "It is an imposition on the people of Kaukauna, and I want to leave this impression with the council. If the bills are allowed, the council will hear about it within a week, as the city is now being criticized for spending money."

Many New Jobs

He also spoke of the labor condition and said that more preference must be given to the unmarried man. "There are young men, some of them war veterans, and single who are living with their parents for support. The old folks barely get along but they are forced to keep them because the latter are unable to find employment. There are a number of married men in the city who need jobs badly, but the unmarried man also must be considered in special cases."

Alderman E. A. Browster also hit at persons with other jobs being on the election board. He advised payment of the $15 and then the adoption of rules for this matter in the future. He agreed with Alderman Landreman that $15 is too much, but disagreed with him in not allowing the present amounts.

Up Two Years Ago

Alderman Carnot, who voted against the payment of $15, recalled that two years ago the same matter was up for discussion. "Alderman E. R. Landreman, who then was on the elections committee, brought up the bills for payment and at the advice of the committee cut the amounts to $7.50. These were changed to $15 at a later meeting of the council. An established rate should be adopted."

Mayor B. W. Fargo said that he was of the opinion that the amounts were rather excessive. However, changes were made on the board when possible, and appointments were made of persons who needed help.

An automobile was purchased for the city nurse from the Kaukauna Motor Car company. The delivered price of the car is $645 and an allowance of $100 was made on the present nurse car. The net cost is $545. There were bids from the Hennes Auto company, VanLieshout Garage, Gustman Chevrolet Sales.

Bids for bank deposits were discussed by the council and aldermen were of the opinion that the interest paid on bank deposits was not enough. Representatives of the three local banks will be invited to attend the next meeting of the council.

Objection was made by Alderman Cooper because no interest would be paid on the first $2,000. Interest on the daily balances over $2,000 would draw two per cent interest for a time and then it would drop to one and one half per cent. He pointed out that at one time the banks paid 3 per cent interest, and suggested that the city take out certificates of deposits.

Votes cast Tuesday were canvassed by the council and new members will begin their terms at the next meeting of the council on Tuesday, April 21.

By Percival Christopher Wren Author of MYSTERIOUS WAY

Chapter 33
CAUTIOUS GUARDS
At ten o'clock at night Murphy passed my cell door and heard heart-rending groans that he expected to hear. Supposing (as he stated, in evidence, later) that the occupant of the cell had attempted suicide or was dying, he unlocked the door and stepped inside. Instantly an automatic pistol appeared in front of his face and a grim voice said: "Put 'em up." As he did so, the voice continued: "Here's where I die—after I've killed you—or else I make my getaway. Strip!" And Guard Murphy pretended that he was trapped, and that unless he instantly obeyed every order of this desperate criminal, he would be a dead man. "Quick," I growled. "Cap, trousers, everything... If I get clear you'll never need to work again." "I'm trusting ye," whispered Guard Murphy. "I'm trusting you too, Murphy," I said, "but turn to me and cross your wrists behind you. I shall only want one hand and my teeth for the job, and my other hand will be holding the gun against your liver." In about three minutes, Murphy's uniform, boots, cap and belt were on the floor of the cell, and his hands were bound together behind him, and I could now lay the pistol aside. In another minute his feet were tied together. Having gagged him I dressed myself as a guard, and, taking his keys, opened the door, stepped out into the corridor, and locked the door behind me. I was free—inside the prison, and if every man reacted correctly to my suddenly presented pistol, there was a chance that I should be free outside it too. Assuming the attitude of a guard on duty, I tramped down the corridor toward the watchman who, as I knew, would be outside the big common-cell known for some reason as The Fort. If the watchman took no notice of me, as was quite likely in that dim light, I would pass on. As I passed him the watchman looked up. "Say, Patsy," he said, and then his eyes and mouth opened wider. "What the...?" "Stick 'em up!" I growled. "Quick!" and his hands shot up as high as he could put them. I took his pistol. "Unlock the door and get inside, quick," I said. The watchman opened that four-inch iron door more quickly than usual, and went into The Fort as though it was his home. It was for quite a little while. Like Guard Murphy, he was safely out of action until some one other than myself was in possession of the big key which I turned and withdrew from the lock. The watchman had done me splendid service by recognizing me and causing me to drive him into the cell, for he had provided a perfect solution of the greater part of my problem. Whether the watchman had gone his comrades should go—every guard, watchman, trusty, or other official who recognized me or showed suspicion. That big cell, I realized, had no windows in the ordinary sense of the word. There would be no audible cry for help from The Fort. Proceeding on my way toward the Warden's Office, I emerged into the blessed fresh air of the dark night, and marched boldly across the bare, inner quadrangle which was the convicts' exercise-ground, to where a guard stood sentinel beneath a lamp. As I approached him at an angle, whistling an Irish air which was a favorite with Murphy, I got within arm's length of the sentry without his taking the slightest notice of me, and, with a lightning grab, I disarmed him, at the same time growing, with as sinister a scowl as I could achieve: "Hands up!... Quick!" Up went the guard's hands, for life was as dear to him as to most of us. Within a minute I had shepherded my victim to the Fort door, and made him open it and enter. The look of disappointment on the imprisoned watchman's face as he saw two automatics and the guard, instead of release, was ludicrous. "Don't either of you be near the door, next time it opens," I said. "I may get mad and make a real killing." The door closed gently, and again I locked it and withdrew the key. Thrice I repeated this process, and each time the proceedings passed off without a hitch. It was unbelievably easy—owing to the fact that, being in the uniform of a guard, I was able to present a pistol at my victim before he had the faintest idea of anything being wrong. It was of pleasing interest to me to notice that, on each occasion, the heavy iron door of The Fort opened upon silence and apparent emptiness. The men within knew that, certainly two, and probably four, would be killed before their concerted rush could get at me. It was in almost a state of exaltation, that I, coolly, swiftly, and in businesslike manner, went about my affair until, one by one, I had captured every single guard inside the prison. It was, of course, my good fortune and a weakness in the prison system that, in no case, was one guard in actual sight of another. But for this I could hardly have succeeded. Having safely disposed of all the inner guards, I now turned to the more dangerous task of dealing with the Warden's Office staff—if any were still on duty—and the outer guard at the prison gate. Tramping heavily, whistling, and jangling my keys, I marched up to the door of the office, threw it open, tramped in, with all the assurance of the Warden himself, closed the door, and saw that the only occupant of the room was the prison bookkeeper—who stared at me in amazement. He stared harder, with yet more amazement, as a big automatic appeared a foot from his face, and the unknown guard gave the peremptory order: "Signal the outer guard to open the prison gates." "You win," he smiled, came round the desk as if to pass me, suddenly struck the pistol from my hand, and sprang on me like a tiger. But he was fighting for his duty, whereas I was fighting for my life and the punishment of Rosemary's murderers—and, before long, I was on top, with my hands like a vise on his throat. When his face was beginning to turn purple, I suddenly released my grip with one hand, drew another pistol from my pocket, and held it to his face. "Do we both die?" I growled. "No," he wheezed. "You win." "Get up and give the signal," I ordered. Staggering to his feet, the clerk went over to the bell-pull, two pistols threatening him from behind. I certainly wasn't going to shoot him, but he didn't know that. "Don't give the wrong signal," I said. "Unless you're really tired of life." "No," he promised. "I'll sure give the right signal." But I saw a triumphant thought flash through his mind. He would give the signal, and, as soon as the inner gate was opened, and I marched out of the room to escape, he would give the alarm to the guard at the gate when I was halfway there. "I'll give the right signal," he answered me, and did so. As he turned to me with a smile, I swiftly struck him a crashing blow on the point of the jaw with my right flat, in which I held the heavy pistol by the middle, as one does a dumb-bell. He crumpled up without a sound. (Copyright, 1931, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.) Locks clank again tomorrow—but not on Wayne. He plans a "joy ride" with an eager friend.

GOLD MINE SHARES SHOW SHARP GAINS DURING DEPRESSION

One Issue More Than Doubles in Price Since Beginning of Year

New York.—(P)—By virtue of economic and legislative fiat, the gold mining industry is looking up. A sideshow to the recent bear and bull tussles in the big tent in Wall-st. has been a baby bull market in gold mining stocks.

The highly speculative nature of gold mining and the numerous fraudulent mining promotions by which "gold bricks" securities were sold to gullible buyers in past decades had caused Wall-st. to regard these stocks as somewhat beneath its dignity.

But there has been a distinct upward trend in the half dozen or so Canadian and American gold issues traded on the New York Stock and Curb exchanges in the last two months. Alaska Juneau, long a low-priced stock and classed in Wall-st. jargon with "the cats and dogs," has more than doubled in value since January.

The 1931 high and 1930 low prices for some of these issues follow:

	1931 High	1930 Low
Alaska Juneau ..	$ 15.25	$ 4.50
Dome ..	13.50	6.75
Hollinger ..	7.75	5.
Homestake ..	72.	140.
Lake Shore ..	23.87	20.62
McIntire ..	26.50	14.75
Teck Hughes ..	9.	4.75

During a depression production costs decline and gold is no exception. The price of gold, in the United States at least, never fluctuates. The value is established by federal law at $20.67133462 a fine troy ounce of 480 grains. The more familiar avoirdupois ounce of commerce contains 437 1/2 grains.

Buy More Goods

Every ounce of gold during a depression will buy more in other commodities than when boom conditions, such as prevailed before the stock market crash of 1929, exist. This explains the generalization that in hard times gold mining companies are more likely to earn profits than in prosperous years.

Reserves of lower gold content than can be worked profitably in normal times may yield a good return in a depression. And there are improved methods of recovery which were not known some decades ago.

Rand Mines, Ltd., a British concern, controls subsidiaries producing about half the world's output of yellow metal from the Witwatersrand reef in South Africa. The principal market for Rand shares is London, although there is an issue of American shares which are traded in occasionally in New York. They recently sold at $34.75, against last year's low of $27.75.

Noranda, a Canadian issue, usually regarded as a copper rather than a gold stock, has recently had a brisk rise reflecting its gold mining developments.

FOND DU LAC MAN'S CAR IS STOLEN HERE

A Studebaker sedan, 1925 model, owned by C. F. Lynels, 334 Scott-st., Fond du Lac, was stolen about 10:45 last night from a parking place on the city fair grounds. The machine was dark blue in color and had the 1930 license, E-17005. Police are looking for the car.

Six Skeletons Taken From Indian "Hill Of Torture"

Aurillacville, N. Y.—(P)—The "Hill of Torture" here, where thousands of visitors to the shrine of three Jesuits martyred by the Mohawk Indians have walked softly after hearing the sufferings inflicted on the missionaries, has yielded six skeletons today and there is a possibility that further excavations planned will reveal more. At least two of those found so far are believed those of white men, buried probably in Indian times.

Every summer since 1844 there has been a steady stream of pilgrims, the curious and students of history, to this lovely spot in one of New York's fairest valleys, where the fiercest tribe of all state's fighting Indians tortured, then killed, the advance guard of the Christians between 1643 and 1646.

Last summer the church of Rome elevated the three men killed here to sainthood, in company with five others who died in the service of the church in North America.

What is now New York state was one of the most dangerous stretches of wilderness in all North America when Father Isaac Jogues and a lay brother of his order, Rena Goupil, first came to the fierce Mohawk Indians here in 1642.

The "Hill of Torture" was then the site of a strong Mohawk village, and here the white captives were carried. In a letter to his mother, Father Jogues told how the Indians beat him with "knotty sticks," tore off his nails and tore out the hair and beards of the two men.

Some time during the early part of the captivity Goupil was killed and Father Jogues buried the body in the ravine which worshippers here regard as almost holy ground. Goupil was tomahawked for making the sign of the cross and trying to teach it to a boy.

Father Jogues, after being ransomed, returned to France, then, in 1645, came back as a missionary. With him came another lay brother, John de la Lande.

They worked for a few years, then the Indians began to blame them for various misfortunes. They had to run the dreaded gauntlet and were beaten terribly. Their end was near. Every day brought new tortures. Finally Father Jogues was tomahawked and the next day his companion was slain. This was in 1646. Their bodies are believed to have been thrown into the river.

Years later Christianized Indians told the story of the martyrdom of the brave Frenchmen.

Washington.—A family here has been devoted to science for generations. It began with a pair of white rats brought to the bureau of home economics six years ago. There have been 9,300 descendants who have furnished data on Vitamins and such.

PRO OPERATORS TAKE CONTROL OF STOCK MART

Leading Industrials and Utilities Resist Downward Movement

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York—(P)—Professional operators had the stock market virtually under their control today, but neither speculative influence nor the downward movement of the field particularly lucrative.

Selling of the rails impelled a general sag for a time during the morning, but many leading industrial and utility stocks resisted the downward movement, and after midday, the list showed signs of rallying.

A firmer tone in the commodity markets and a better demand for bonds were also influential. Trading was in slim volume, most of it originating with floor traders.

In the midday rally, early declines of 1 to 4 points were modified, and a few shares sold up a point or two, including General Motors, which had been firm from the start, and such issues as Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Dupont, McKesson, and Johnson & Johnson.

Aluminum, the last named reached a new peak for 1931, reaching 24 1/2 points in the rally, declines of 2 to 4 points appeared in Atchafalaya, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Frisco preferred, all of which reported new low prices. Radio was heavily sold for a time, losing more than a point, but later recovering. U. S. Steel recovered a point loss, and Bethlehem turned upward after losing more than 2. Auburn, featured earlier, getting down 12 points at one time.

The rail equities were apparently sold on publication of the final tabulation of February earnings by class 1 carriers, indicating that income in the first two months of the year was at the annual rate of return on investment of only 1.9 to 10 percent. The low rate of carrier earnings, however, has been well understood. The first few reports for March indicate little if any improvement as yet.

Among the first companies to report first quarter profits was Union Pacific, showing net of 84 cents a share, or about half the $1.89 a share earned in the first half of 1930. Cream of Wheat reported 81 cents a share, a moderate reduction from the 88 cents reported a year ago. St. Joseph lead reduced its annual dividend from $2 to $1. An unofficial estimate of Radio Corp.'s first quarter results disclosed that the preferred dividends had been earned. The company ran in the red heavily a year ago, largely resulting from a bad inventory situation.

Wall Street was interested in the oil states advisory board's recommendations to stabilize the industry, most important of which was an interstate compact for coordinating conservation measures. It was felt, however, that achievement of such an agreement would be a lengthy and arduous job.

Credit remained plentiful. Call money held at 1 1/2 percent. The treasury's offering of $275,000,000 in 10 percent, eight month, certificates was promptly oversubscribed, and banks are now said to be looking about for longer term investments.

WHEAT PRICES ADVANCE; BOOST EXPORT DEMAND

Scarcity of Moisture in Northwest Serves to Bolster Grain Mart

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago—(P)—Pronounced strength shown by wheat today resulted chiefly from broadening of North American export business and from reports of moisture scarcity in northwest. Overseas purchases of Canadian and United States wheat were estimated late in the day at as much as 2,000,000 bushels. Price bulges, however, failed to hold in the face of active profit-taking and of preparations for the government crop report due after the close.

Indications of a renewal of good export demand for North American wheat accompanied word of a decided falling off in Russian shipments. Only 50,000 bushels of wheat were reported from Russia in the last week, against total Black Sea shipments of 1,400,000 the week previous and 1,600,000 a year ago.

Corn and oats moved up with wheat and as a result of notable scarcities of corn receipts. Dry weather complaints from Iowa were a bullish factor.

ROSENDAHL IS MADE CHIEF OF HUGE AIRSHIP

Prepares to Assemble Crew for Akron and Start Flights in July

Washington — (P) — Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, who knows more about airships in fair sailing and disaster than any other American, Wednesday was named the first skipper of the navy's new queen of the skies, the dirigible ZR-4, better known as the Akron. Rosendahl was ordered to the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., April 15, to begin assembling a crew for the new airship from the personnel trained aboard the Los Angeles, the dirigible given to this country by Germany under the Treaty of Versailles. Trial flights are to be conducted in July.

Rosendahl is a survivor of the Shenandoah disaster and was for three years captain of the Los Angeles.

The Akron, named for her birthplace, will be by far the largest flying craft in the world, with a cubic content two and a half times that of the Los Angeles, nearly double that of the Graf Zeppelin, and 25 per cent larger than that of Great Britain's ill-starred R-101, which crashed in France last year.

Rosendahl is now in Washington, where he has been on duty with the naval bureau of aeronautics since July, 1930. Although still young, only 28, he is generally recognized as this country's foremost authority in lighter-than-air aviation, largely because of his intensive study during the last eight years and a practical experience probably without parallel in its range and thoroughness.

Dr. Hugh Eckener and a few of the other Germans may surpass him in hours and miles flown, but during his long term as commander of the Los Angeles he carried through a program of training and experimentation that has not been equalled anywhere else in the world.

World's Greatest Airship

His new command is considered the supreme achievement of the airship builders, embodying the best wisdom and experience of this country and of Germany.

Although her length, 785 feet, is only 9 feet more than the Graf Zeppelin, her diameter is a third larger than the Graf's and her cubic measurements almost double.

Eight engines with a total of 4,480 horsepower will give her a cruising range of 10,550 land miles without refueling, as against 4,000 for the Los Angeles and 6,125 for the Graf Zeppelin. She is designed to make $3.3 miles an hour.

The new pride of the navy's air forces is the first airship capable of carrying an airplane. Being a fighting ship—the Los Angeles and Graf Zeppelin are non-military craft—she can support a heavy armament of bombs, machine guns and light artillery.

The Akron's new skipper began his flying career in April, 1923,

In the above deal East and West should readily arrive at a game going declaration of No Trump if playing Auction. At Contract, however, where the bidding must reach Three No Trumps in order to go game, West must take cognizance of the fact that East has refused to let the bidding die at South's original bid of One Heart.

In such position East should be lacking any fear that North and South could possibly have a game between them at a shift bid. Hence, East must have some strength in the minor suits. West has the Heart suit stopped twice and in addition thereto holds four of each of the Minor suits inclusive of a stopper. However, the Diamonds being Queen high and the Club being Jack high, there can be little hope for a game at any declaration other than No Trump. A bid of One No Trump over East's Spade would do no more than imply a Heart stopper and lack of normal Spade support.

When he was assigned to the navy's dirigible base at Lakehurst, N. J., The navy launched its first rigid airship, the Shenandoah, in August 1923, and two months later Rosendahl became a member of her crew.

He continued to fly with the Shenandoah until she was destroyed in a storm over Ava, Ohio, Sept. 3, 1925. Fourteen of her crew of 48, including her commanding officer, Lieutenant Commander Zachary Landis, were killed. Rosendahl was the ranking officer to survive.

Six months later he took command of the navy's remaining dirigible, the German-built Los Angeles, which he held until May, 1929. In August, 1929, he took part in the Graf Zeppelin's trip around the world.

DIRECTORS MEETING
The monthly meeting of the Appleton Building and Loan association will be held at 7:30 Thursday evening in the offices of George Beckley, secretary, on W. College-ave. Loans will be considered and reports of the past month submitted.

Accordingly when South does not

rebid his hand, West should bid Two No Trumps rather than One.

Safest Points of Bidding

Contract: South opens the bidding with One Heart, which West and North pass. East has such a powerful hand that he has no hesitancy in keeping the bidding open so he bids One Spade. South passes and West, for the reasons given in the preamble, bids Two No Trumps. North passes and East bids Three No Trumps, concluding the bidding.

Auction: South opens the bidding with One Heart. West and North pass and East bids One Spade. South passes and West bids One No Trump, concluding the bidding.

The Play

Having no suit of his own, North opens the Six of Hearts. East plays the Two, South, the Queen and West takes the trick with the Ace. Declarer now starts the establishment of the Diamond suit rather than take the Club finesse, for should the latter prove unsuccessful, East in all probability would have the Ace of Diamonds for a sure reentry after his Hearts are established. East takes the first Diamond lead with the Ace and since he has the King of Clubs in his hand, lays down the Queen and another Heart in order to establish that suit.

Declarer must now take his high tricks in for he will have three Spades, two Hearts, three Diamonds and one Club—enough to give him game. Whereas if he should, upon overtaking East's Jack of Diamonds and leading the Nine, shift to the Club and finesse, South would be enabled to save game, for in such case he would make three Hearts, a Diamond and a Club.

Mr. Whithead will answer one question at a time concerning your bridge problems. Write to him one of the paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope. Copyright 1931 by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.
